DEMS EYE KERR AS CHOICE FO NEW CHAIRMA

Oklahoma Governor In L for Hannegan's Post If Leader Resigns.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Ok homa is reported to be choice of party leaders to s ceed Robert E. Hannegan Democratic national chairm if the latter resigns in January expected.

President Truman was said y terday by associates to look w favor on the selection of Ke who keynoted the 1944 party c vention at which Mr. Truman nominated for vice president.

Kerr threw the 22 Oklahoma votes he received for vice pre ident on the first ballot of t 1944 convention to Mr. Truma on the second ballot, when th latter was nominated.

Friends of Hannegan, who cently went to Walter Reed h pital here for a physical check report he has expressed a de to step out as chairman at the nual meeting of the Democra committee here shortly after first of the year.

However, Hannegan is expect to retain his place in the cabin as postmaster general.

* * *

State Resists Trend.

The fact that Oklahoma re mained in the Democratic colu in this year's Republican tur over, electing Roy Turner, go ernor to succeed Kerr, brought latter again into the limelig Kerr often has been mentioned a possible cabinet appointee.

On the other hand, the Demo crats' loss of New York appa ently retarded the chances o Paul E. Fitzpatrick, that state's party chairman, to succeed Ha negan.

The choice of Kerr would bring to the party leadership a south western governor who has been staunch supporter of the policies of the late President Roosevelt.

* * *

Cool To Wallace.

Kerr, a wealthy oil man, could be expected to be acceptable to conservative southern Democrats, however, since he has few apparent political ties with the wing of the party of which Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of Commerce, is a spokesman.

Because Hannegan seemingly exerted strong influence on President Truman in the latter's reaction to legislative proposals, the selection of a new chairman will be watched closely by Republicans as well as Democrats for possible effect on Mr. Truman's relations with the new GOP-controlled congress.

NOTES ASK FREEDOM IN ROMANIAN VOTING

BUCHAREST —(AP)— The British and American governments presented notes to the Romanian government yesterday protesting anew the conduct of next Tuesday's Romanian elections in which Teohari Tatarescu, Communist interior minister, predicted there will be broken heads but no major incidents.

The notes were understood to express dissatisfaction with Romania's reply to previous British and American notes regarding the elections.

(The state department said the United States note was delivered to the government of Premier Petru Groza by Burton Y. Berry, U. S. political representative in Romania. The note, the fourth in a series since May, sought again to prod Romania into holding a free and untrammeled election.

Judge Sentences 12 For Picketing

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —(AP)— Twelve men were fined and jailed without bond yesterday on charges of violating an injunction against picketing a cafe and continuing a strike.

Circuit Judge Richard V. Evans gave two six months in jail and the others 90 days. He levied fines totalling $4,589.18.

However, Hannegan is expected to retain his place in the cabinet as postmaster general.

State Resists Trend.

The fact that Oklahoma remained in the Democratic column in this year's Republican turnover, electing Roy Turner governor to succeed Kerr, brought the latter again into the limelight. Kerr often has been mentioned as a possible cabinet appointee.

On the other hand, the Democrats' loss of New York apparently retarded the chances of Paul E. Fitzpatrick, that state's party chairman, to succeed Hannegan.

The choice of Kerr would bring to the party leadership a southwestern governor who has been a staunch supporter of the policies of the late President Roosevelt.

Dead-Eye Dick Drops 2 Birds With One Shot

'Dead-Eye Dick' is what they're calling Richard Ropp these days.

Dick, partner with his father, Dale, in Ropps' Ven-Mar-Ket, 191 Marion avenue, went hunting with his dad and Don O. Myers, 212 Bowland road, Friday afternoon north of Mansfield.

The tale they tell is that the younger Ropp can now boast of bagging two cock pheasants with one shot.

"Just lucky, I guess," Dick remarked. "I didn't even see the second pheasant. When I went over to pick up the bird I shot at there was the second not far away."

They were the only birds the hunters bagged, although they got 10 rabbits.

GOP SENATORS SELECT WHITE AND OHIO'S TAFT

Four-Way Leadership Fight Looms In House.

By W. H. MOBLEY

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Senate Republicans apparently settled Saturday on a Taft-White combine to lead them in the 80th congress, but both Democratic and GOP house leadership races were further snarled by new aspirants.

Senator Taft of Ohio put everything but the final seal on the Republican set-up in the senate with an announcement that Senator White of Maine is his personal choice for floor leader. Taft said he himself would "hope" to stay where he is at the head of the party's steering committee, a background job.

Sen. Taft.

In the house, Rep. Dirksen of Illinois announced his candidacy for the Republican leadership. The other avowed contestants are Reps. Halleck of Indiana and Jenkins of Ohio, with Clarence Brown also of Ohio, "available." The race is for the job Rep. Martin of Massachusetts will vacate to become speaker.

Dems Face Contest.

On the Democratic side the possibility of a north-south contest for the minority leadership arose with a report that Rep. Rankin of Mississippi may be a starter.

Some southerners are dissatisfied with the present Democratic leader, Rep. McCormick of Massachusetts, but Rankin's leading part in the affairs of the un-American activities committee has helped put him in disfavor with a number of his colleagues from other sections.

Sen. White

The Rankin report reinforced talk of "drafting" Sam Rayburn of Texas, the retiring speaker who has said he does not want the leadership post to which he is the natural heir. There also was talk of Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania.

ATTLEE DEMANDS CONFIDENCE VOTE

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee, assuming the role of a fighting leader, is prepared to ask the house of commons Monday for his first vote of confidence to crush decisively a revolt in the labor party against his foreign policy.

An authoritative government informant declared Saturday that it was "quite probable" that Attlee would take this action to "show how small" is the vote of rebel labor party members whose criticism of Foreign secretary Ernest Bevin has precipitated a minor crisis in government ranks.

CIO PREPARING TO WAGE 'WAR'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)— The CIO, acting on an assumption that big business has "declared war" on it, is making a determined effort today to get its own house in order.

Existence of a division between the CIO's "right wing" and "left wing" was recognized more bluntly than ever before by the CIO leadership as they prepared for the CIO convention which opens Monday.

President Philip Murray, regarded as virtually certain to accept re-election, acknowledged yesterday in a brief news conference the existence of a special CIO committee which is working on harmony.

Other leaders have disclosed that it has six members, equally divided between the right and left wings.

It was learned that Murray told the executive board in emphatic terms that CIO unions will meet strong resistance this winter in their fight for a second post-war round of wage increases.

Others present at the meeting said Murray referred specifically to recent utterances of Alfred P. Sloan, board chairman of General Motors and that Murray interpreted such utterances as a "declaration of war."

Shoppers 'Warming Up' For Big Buying Rush

Saturday was another busy day in Mansfield stores as Christmas shoppers "warmed up" for the big rush that's expected after Thanksgiving.

Threatening weather slowed the pace a little yesterday afternoon, but merchants said buyers are showing up in large numbers earlier this year than last holiday season, and they're finding more to buy.

Clothing stores reported heavy sales and a plentiful supply of men's and women's robes, but other items, such as men's shirts and pajamas and men's and women's gloves, are even more scarce this year than during the war years.

Some of the popular gift articles, however, are back this season. There are alarm clocks, radios, record players, electrical appliances and fountain pens. They're generally costlier, but they can be found without searching from store to store.

Time was when merchants waited until Thanksgiving to decorate their stores and display windows, but with that holiday still nearly two weeks away, many downtown windows are already bright with yuletide colors and gift wrappings.

Sees Poetry As Balm To Weary Tycoons' Souls

NEW YORK —(AP)— What the tired business man needs nowadays, says A. M. Sullivan, is more poetry.

Sullivan says he is sure of it because he is both a tired business man and a poet.

"It's all a matter of imagination," says Sullivan, an executive of a Wall Street firm and a past president of the Poetry Society of America. Who ever heard of a business man waxing poetic?

"Edgar Lee Masters was a lawyer, Wallace Stevens an insurance executive, MacLeish a lawyer, Sandburg an advertising writer, Keats an apothecary, Chaucer a tax collector, Masefield a carpet worker," Sullivan says.

So there, now, you tired tycoons. Start composing.

PLANS HOSPITAL

CLEVELAND —(AP)— University hospitals will erect the Howard M. Hanna Memorial building. To be devoted to the practice and advancement of psychiatry, as the result of a $1,000,000 gift announced Saturday by a committee of the $9,525,000 Greater Cleveland hospital fund.

Story of Hitler's Last Days Weird

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A German woman flier's weird story of the "comic-tragedy" last days in Adolf Hitler's air raid shelter in Berlin was published last night by Justice Jackson's war crimes prosecution staff.

The flier, Hanna Reitsch, internationally known test pilot, told American questioners that Hitler's personality underwent "complete disintegration" in the final days before the Russians overran the shelter beneath the Reichs chancellery.

Her 10,000-word account was included in the latest of an official series of volumes, along with Hitler's private and political wills and other documents which were not placed in the Nuernberg trial record. In it she said:

1. Almost to the last Hitler clung to the hope of rescue, waved papers in nervous twitching hands, or moved buttons to represent his nonexistent armies on a sweat-stained map "like a young boy playing at war."

2. Both he and Goebbels were incensed at the "treachery" of Göering and Himmler, whom Hitler in his political will ordered expelled from the Nazi party.

3. Goebbels strode and orated about his small quarters, while Martin Bormann, Hitler's designated heir, kept busy "recording the momentous events in the Bunker for Posterity."

4. Eva Braun remained true to her role as the show piece of the Fuehrer's entourage. The rumor of the last minute marriage ceremony Fraulein Reitsch considered "highly unlikely."

5. The possibility that Hitler might have escaped alive was "completely absurd," because he would not have had the strength to leave even had a path to freedom been cleared through the ring of beseigers.

Fraulein Reitsch was credited by the interrogators with being possibly the last person to quit the shelter and live.

12,000 Pounds of Fish Distributed In Shelby

SHELBY—Annual reports of the Shelby Conservation association on propagation of game and fish in the Shelby area today were released by Dr. J. F. Winans, president.

The reports show that the fish division headed by John Gray of Shelby had distributed 1,000 pounds to the Conservation lake, east of the city, and approximately 11,000 pounds to the city reservoir which will be re-opened to public fishing by permit on June 16, 1947.

Since the reservoir was closed to fishing last October, the association through funds raised by the Shelby Community Fish Stocking project has stocked 3,600 pounds in the 11-acre body of water. The state has placed 400 crappies, Black bass and bluegills.

The pheasant division, headed by Darwin Berry of Shelby, has raised and released 515 pheasants this year in co-operation with the state of Ohio Conservation department. The pheasants were all released within a five-mile area of Shelby.

The reforestation division, also headed by Berry, has planted 3,000 trees, mostly walnut and pine on near-by farm land.

Leases on two state game reserves on the Bloom and Baker farms have expired and a new reserve has been established on the Deerlick road taking in part of three farms, one and one-half miles south of Shelby. The three reserves were all sponsored by the Shelby association. Game is fed and protected on the reserves by Richland County Game Warden Charles Kimmell and members of the association.

The association released 50 coons within a five-mile radius of Shelby through the coon division headed by C. T. Fries, who will pay $4 for live male coons and $5 for females to restock the area.

The association plans two membership drives. One early in the year for the fish division and one later for the hunters.

Galion Couple To Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

By MRS. CATHERINE RORICK
News-Journal Correspondent

GALION—Golden wedding anniversaries apparently are not unusual in the families of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Tischer, 641 South Market street, who are ready to celebrate their's on Sunday.

Mr. Tischer, with pride in his voice, said that he is the fourth in his family to have lived with one mate for 50 years, while Mrs. Tischer, who is the former Orpha Heffelfinger, pointed out that she is the third in her family to observe a golden wedding anniversary.

Although the anniversary is actually Tuesday, the couple will be entertained with a Sunday noon dinner at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Parks, 639 South Market street. Covers will be laid for 35 guests. In the afternoon, from two to four, the Tischers will be at their home for open house.

Among the guests will be Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Elliker, their present pastor and his wife. Mrs. Elliker is a niece of the late Rev. Mr. Schmitt who married the Tischers in 1896 at the First Reformed church parsonage.

Until 1927 Mr. and Mrs. Tischer had lived in Morrow county, near West Point. For a number of years, Mr. Tischer worked at the Gledhill Lumber company, and now at the age of 76, is employed as a guard at the Galion All-Steel Body company.

Besides Mrs. Parks, the Tischers had another daughter, Mrs. Velma Fry, who died nine years ago. They have seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren. A number of brothers, sisters and other relatives will be present Sunday.

Narrow Escapes Feature 4-Month 2,000-Mile Trip

GALION—Having their car fall from a ferry into a southern Brazil river and narrowly escaping an earthquake in Chile, were only two of the many experiences of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Petri, Galion residents who recently returned from a 20,000-mile four-month trip by air, sea, motor and train in South America.

Petri, a Galion attorney, spoke Thursday night at the Men's Brotherhood monthly meeting at Peace Lutheran parish house. His talk included South American experiences in his automobile, especially in Brazil and Peru. In addition to the ferry incident, he and his wife almost lost the car when the tide came in forcing them to drive on the beach.

They arrived home without the car, a maritime strike forcing them to leave it in Lima, Peru. They flew from Lima to Miami in less than a day. During their four months trip, eight countries were visited. Petri made an independent study of the Pan-American highway, about 10 per cent of which is improved.

17 BUTLER PUPILS ON 1ST HONOR ROLL

BUTLER — Seventeen students at Butler high school were announced this week to have achieved the first period honor roll ratings. They are: Marion Leedy, Freda Oswalt, Rodney Swank, Harriet Wheatcraft and Albert Weekly in the twelfth grade, and Myron Collier and Marjorie Reamsnyder in the eleventh grade.

Tenth grade: Walter Brumm, Norma Grubb, Marion Oswalt, Sara Rader and Elizabeth Ward. Ninth grade: Marjorie Wells. Eighth grade: Jeannine Altman, Charles Barnard, Gerald Brooks and David Crunkilton.

The student council voted to sponsor the sale of refreshments at all home basketball games this year, with one organization in the school serving at each game. At the Johnsville contest last week, the Home Economics club was in charge.

Schools Close Two Days Thanksgiving

The Shelby public schools will be closed for a two-day Thanksgiving holiday on Thursday, Nov. 28, and Friday, Nov. 29. Most of the business places, factories and city building will be closed on Nov. 28 so that the employes can be with their families on Thanksgiving day.

Other vacation periods announced for the Shelby public schools include Christmas, Dec. 23 to Jan. 3; Easter, April 4 to 11; and Decoration day, May 30.

LADIES' GUILD PLANS BAZAAR

GALION — Plans for a Christma bazaar on Nov. 23 and preparation of a box for inhabitants of James Island were principal activities when members of the Ladies' Guild met at the First Presbyterian church here last week.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Frank Horn. Hostesses serving at the meeting's close were: Mrs. Roy Sharrock, Mrs. J. B. Sweeney, Mrs. Roy Flowers, Mrs. Ingram and Mrs. Addie Green.

Mrs. Lorenzo Kreiter and Mrs. A. Sickman will have charge of the arrangements for the annual guild Christmas party next month.

Mrs. George James was hostess to members of the Friday Afternoon club for a luncheon at Hotel Talbott. Later the group met at the home of Mrs. James for bridge games. Three guests, Mrs. C. L. Morkel, Mrs. W. R. Sisson and Mrs. L. A. Cline, were present. Prizes were awardeed to Mrs. H. L Bodley, Mrs H. C. Dye, Mrs. Ida Schaffner and Mrs. Sisson.

* * *

The first meeting of the season was held Friday night by the St. Therese literary club at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles Ritchey. Plans were made for the year's program and a general discussion of activities was held. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

* * *

At a meeting of Girl Scout leaders, Thursday night, at the home of Mrs. Lorenzo Kreiter, reports of the Kenova Regional conference of Girl Scouts held at the Netherland Plaza hotel in Cincinnati, were made by Mrs. Kreiter and Joan Spaid. Mrs. G. A. Berting also attended the conference. A handkerchief shower was presented to Mrs. Kenneth Guinther who has been leader of Troop 14, and who leaves soon for her former home in Chicago.

WORK WILL BEGIN SOON ON HOUSING

SHILOH — Work on a new housing project in Shiloh will start soon, it was announced last week by Mayor Glenn Swanger, chairman of the American Legion building committee. Serving with him are Donald Dawson and Earl Huston.

After receiving approval of the county commissioners the project got underway with purchase of land from the Harry Garrett farm which is located just inside the corporation limits.

The first construction will be two double houses of prefabricated material, each having two apartments of four rooms and bath. The land for the building has been purchased by the prospective occupants.

SHELBY WATER PLANT TROUBLE SOLUTION SEEN

SHELBY—City council's recommendation that supervision of the Municipal Water company be separated from the Municipal Light company is expected to be acted on Monday when Law Director Robert Green explains the legal procedure necessary for such action, city spokesmen said yesterday.

The recommendation for separate supervision of the two municipal companies is the outgrowth of charges against J. P. Adkins, supervisor of both, that he had been negligent in his duty toward the water company.

Council had previously agreed to have Green draw up the necessary legislation after Councilman James Herlihy, at the last council meeting, charged neglect in the operation of the water plant. Herlihy said that Adkins had failed to follow recommendations given him by council to give Shelby residents better water service.

Councilman E. E. Eckert, agreeing with Herlihy, said that the two supervising positions should be separated in the interests of better service.

The city's water problem was brought to a head after it was discovered that approximately $3,000 in damages to the water company dam on the Blackfork branch had been incurred through what council charged as neglect on the part of Adkins.

Members of council pointed out that the damage, which has been repaired, was found by council after an inspection of the reservoir and dam earlier in the year. Erosion still is damaging the reservoir banks, they said, declaring that Adkins had told them he was going to have top soil placed on the banks and have them seeded. Such action has not been taken, it was pointed out.

Crestline Men Held for Action Of Grand Jury

BUCYRUS — Two Crestline men, Vernon Carter, 19, and Manuel Patterson, 20, this week were bound over to the grand jury, the former under $3,000 bond on an assault charge and the latter under $2,000 bond, charged with grand larceny.

Carter was arrested on a charge filed by Charles Dielman, Crestline police officer, after he had allegedly attacked William Corbin, Crestline, with a knife. He pleaded guilty to the charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

In the second case, Patterson, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of theft of two diamond rings and cash from Mae Morton Crestline.

200 HEAR OF WORK AIDING ALCOHOLICS

ASHLAND — Two hundred members and guests attended the dinner meeting of Ashland unit of Alcoholics Anonymous at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday night when speakers from Cleveland and Akron told of their own experiences in fighting off alcoholism.

The Clevelander told his story of going down from a position of wealth to that of a panhandler within seven years due to alcohol.

Guests included pastors and jurists from this area, joining with visiting members from surrounding cities. An Ashland pastor complimented the group on its sincerity and termed the meeting "the most religious meeting I have attended in the city of Ashland."

MEETINGS SET FOR SIX RURAL COMMUNITIES

100 Women Expected to See Demonstrations of Baking Bread and Rolls.

Nearly 100 rural women are scheduled to attend home demonstration meetings on methods of baking yeast bread and rolls and on kitchen improvement in six Richland county communities this week.

Arranged under the supervision of Miss Mabel Spray, home demonstration agent, the meetings will be in Lexington, Newville, Shiloh, Springmill, Ganges and Franklin township.

Details of the five demonstration meetings, are:

Lexington — Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Harry Clever. Leaders will be Mrs. Ira Dill and Mrs. H. H. Cleland. Women were instructed to bring a sack lunch.

Franklin - Weller township — Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Franklin Clever, off State Route 13 in Franklin township. Leaders will be Mrs. Clever and Mrs. Mark Houston. Women are to bring a sack lunch.

Newville — Thursday at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Harvey Snyder. Leaders are to be Mrs. Leon Snyder and Mrs. Clugh Taylor. A covered dish dinner will be served.

Shiloh — Thursday at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Dawson. Leaders will be Mrs. Gladys Stanley and Mrs. Mary Brook. Women were told to bring a sack lunch.

Springmill — Friday at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Walter Hink. Leaders will be Mrs. Hink and Mrs. Wilbur Hetler. A covered dish dinner will be served.

The meeting on kitchen improvement, during which Miss Spray will demonstrate use of new devices and discuss plans for remodeling, is to be held Thursday at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Ida Peterson in Ganges. Miss Spray said some 20 other meetings on kitchen improvement have been scheduled for this winter, two in each community of the county.

Tourist Boats Plan June Race On Mississippi

By TERRY FLYNN

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Shades of Steamboat Bill and the Robert E. Lee—there's a real race in the making between the Gordon C. Green and the Golden Eagle the only tourist excursion boats now plying the nation's inland rivers.

Early this month, Cincinnati's old Gordon emerged victor in an impromptu race with the Eagle of St. Louis, between Greenville, Miss., and Arkansas City, Ark.

Capt. J. Winters, master of the Eagle, operated by the Eagle Packet Co., argued at the time that the price of coal made him ease up on the throttle and permit the oil-burning Gordon Greene to splash by. He wanted a rematch.

Today Capt. Tom Greene, president of the Greene Line and master of the Gordon, reported he had issued a challenge to the St. Louis company.

"We'd like to prove the Greenville race was no fluke," he declared. He suggested June 21 as the date for the race over a 100-mile route from St. Louis to Cairo.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY GANGES GRANGE

GANGES — Officers for the coming year were elected Friday night at the regular meeting of the Ganges Grange. Those who will serve are: John A. Ray, master; Wayne Mellick, overseer; Mrs. Martin Frank, lecturer; Carl Taus, steward; Robert L. Baker, assistant steward.

Mrs. Forrest C. Black, chaplain; Mrs. Gail Kuhn, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Clark, secretary; Ted Smith, gatekeeper; Mrs. John A. Ray Laser; Ceres; Mrs. David Kuhn, Pomona; Mrs. Encil Brown, Flora, and Miss Betty Gates, lady assistant steward.

Gail Kuhn was elected to the executive committee, which also includes Carl Dill and Walter Lehman.

Club to Present Pageant at Lucas

LUCAS — Members of the Mission Study club will present a thank offering pageant, "The Gift Perfect," at St. Paul's Lutheran church here at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Directed by Miss Esther Barnett, the cast includes: Mrs. Arthur Darling, Mrs. Floyd Banks jr., Mrs. Paul Hawkins, Miss Gloria Spreng, Mrs. Edwin Dome, Mrs. Dale Peterson, Miss Lenora Gene Stotts, Mrs. Leo Berry, Mrs. John Stotts, jr., Donald Hawkins, Howard Brubaker, Miss Mary Alyce Switzer and Mrs. Harvey Russell.

TO ATTEND MEETING

MILLERSBURG — Mrs. S. V. Mast, Mrs. R. L. Griggs and Mrs. C. R. Cary will attend the meeting of the Womens Society Christian service of Wayne and Holmes county in Wooster Monday.

STOCKS DISPLAY RECOVERY SIGNS

NEW YORK —(AP)— Although stocks generally were on the losing side during the past week, the market Saturday displayed selective recovery signs and losses were restricted despite the threat of a national coal strike.

Scattered soft spots persisted at the close of the brief proceedings but fractional variations either way ruled at the closing. Transfers were 320,000 shares.

A certain amount of bidding was credited to the idea the new congress would take steps to iron out serious labor difficulties and to the thought that the list was oversold.

Among the day's gainers were Pfizer, up 3 at 61 on a few sales; Dow Chemical 2 at 163, U. S. Gypsum 1 at 112, Goodrich ¾ at 64, Southern Pacific ½ at 45¾, Chrysler ¼ at 85½ and U. S. steel ⅛ at 71½.

American Telephone touched a new low for the year but cut an extreme loss of a point to ⅝ at 163⅝. Southern Railway conceded 1½ at 40½, Union Carbide 1⅜ at 90½, American Can 1 at 87¼, Du Pont 1 at 172, American Smelting 1¼ at 49¾. General Motors ⅝ at 50¾ and Bethlehem ¼ at 90¾.

SHELBY AID GROUP OFFICERS ELECTED

SHELBY—Mrs. I. E. Evans was elected president of the Lutheran Ladies' Aid society when an election of officers was held this week.

Others elected were: Mrs. Frank Will, first vice president; Mrs. Will Sweet, second vice president; Mrs. Millei Ward, secretary, and Mrs. Leonard Morton, treasurer. Captains for the different sections will be Mrs. Glenn Zebold, northeast; Mrs. Will Tindale, northwest; Mrs. Blanche Boreman, southeast, and Mrs. Jack Horner, southwest.

The nert meeting will be held Dec. 9 at 6:30 p. m. with a covered dish supper for the entire organization. Mrs. Harry Orewiler will be chairman.

Grain Mart Moves In Narrow Range

CHICAGO—(AP)—Grains moved within a narrow range in a quiet trade Saturday. There was nothing in the overnight news to influence the market in either direction and cereals drifted aimlessly throughout the session. November oats were independently firm.

A trade report from Kansas City said the Association of American Railroads was diverting at least 470 freight cars daily from the east and south to the southwestern grain area. It was said the order resulted from heavy accumulations of flour and millfeeds in the southwest.

Wheat finished ¼ lower to ¾ higher, January $2.06¾; corn was unchanged to ½ lower, January $1.31½-⅜, and oats were ¼ lower to 1½ higher, November 81¾-82¼c.

FATHER OF SIX SUICIDES

CIRCLEVILLE—(AP)—Clyde E. Puckett, 32, father of six children who was discharged because of his dependents after 11 months in the army, killed himself with a shotgun at his home in Derby Saturday. Acting Coroner George W. Heffner gave a suicide verdict.

Union Leader Again Spurns Truce Appeal

Only Basic Industries, Householders With Less Than 10-Day Supply Can Get Fuel As Government Clamps On Sweeping Restrictions.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A drastic government order froze the nation's meager soft coal supplies and placed them under rationing yesterday as John L. Lewis stonily stood pat on the challenge which threatens a strike at midnight Wednesday.

Going far beyond the freeze order issued at the time of the bituminous strike last spring, the government seized control not only of future coal production but also of all stocks now in transit and in dealers' yards. It will be doled out only to utilities, railroads, ships, hospitals, laundries, food plants and householders having less than ten day's supply on hand.

"Issuance of these orders is an essential precaution in view of the unwillingness of the president of the United Mine Workers to accede with the president's request to reconsider the government's proposal looking toward a settlement of the coal controversy," Secretary of the Interior Krug told the worried public in a statement.

As the government thus prepared for the worst, Lewis ignored the administration's second appeal for a 60-day truce and its pointed warning that he has no legal grounds for terminating the miners' present contract.

Members of the operators' negotiating committee, who had agreed to the administration proposal for negotiations with Lewis over his new wage demands, took Lewis' refusal at its face and scattered to their homes.

The impasse continued without signs of a break. A high government official reported privately that the administration has not decided what further steps to take. Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, accompanying Mr. Truman to the Navy-Penn State football game at Annapolis, told reporters that "there have been absolutely no developments overnight."

The freeze of the coal supplies, effective as of noon Saturday, was in three orders. One covered coal in transit and that which may be produced hereafter, estimated to come to 8,500,000 tons by midnight Wednesday with normal production. Another covered all coal in shipment on the Great Lakes or other waterways, including tidewater shipments not affected by earlier freeze orders. The third covered all coal in retail yards.

None of this coal may be distributed to consumers from now on except upon permission of the Solid Fuels Administration. This agency authorized its area and regional representatives to issue special coal supplies sparingly "if such action is necessary to safeguard the health or safety of the community."

Present Stocks Low.

Stocks now on hand are estimated to amount to a 37-day supply under normal consumption, compared to a 42-day supply on hand at the time of the strike last spring.

The freeze covers only soft coal. Anthracite may be distributed normally.

Freeze orders in the past have come only a few hours before or after a strike was to occur. The effect of yesterday's order is to segregate all production Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

* * *

Fourth 'Freeze.'

This is the fourth time the government has stepped in to take over the existing coal supply when faced with a mine stoppage. Similar orders were issued in 1943, 1945 and last spring.

Reports from the bituminous coal fields in Pennsylvania indicated that some miners fear the prospect of pay losses during a walk-out with the Christmas season approaching. In this connection, the Solid Fuels Administration reported that more miners than usual on a Saturday seemed to be working and said this may mean they are trying to make as much money as possible before midnight Wednesday.

Order Catches Dealers With Skimpy Supplies

A threat of a serious coal shortage in Mansfield coal bins was voiced by fuel dealers here yesterday, and the likelihood of a cold snap today brought added pessimism as sale of all soft coal was prohibited by the government.

Mansfield dealers were taken by surprise at the Solid Fuel administration's action in freezing supplies. One dealer said he was "working overtime" in an attempt to supply customers, and that the order would catch some homes here with nearly-empty bins.

However, under the SFA order dealers would be permitted to sell coal to consumers upon written certification that the consumer has less than 10 days' supply of coal on hand.

Industrial consumers generally had adequate coal on hand—Westinghouse Electric corporation has a six-week supply of fuel—but the cut-off of supplies of raw materials may affect Mansfield manufacturers in a matter of days or weeks.

Laser and Walker Coal company reported a "three or four days' supply," based on normal demand. The concern said it had approximately 25 tons on hand.

One large dealer declared the city-wide supply of coal was "far below normal," and he predicted "trouble ahead" if the government order remained in effect for more than a week.

The Velcrest Coal Service reported about 125 tons in its bins. An official said such a supply normally would last from three or four to 10 days, "depending on the weather."

H and H Coal company said it had a "fair" supply, with six loaded railroad cars in its yards.

Scott Hagerman, owner of the Hagerman Coal company, said his supply probably "would last a week under normal conditions, and I've got about 100 tons."

POLICE ARREST TWELVE AFTER GAMBLING RAID

Patrolmen Report Dice Game In Progress In Main Street Shop.

Twelve persons were jailed for investigation last night after police arrested them at the Veterans Smoke shop, 222 North Main street, where officers said a dice game was in progress.

The arrests were made at 8:45 p. m. when Police Lieut. Clare W. Kyler and a squad of three patrolmen entered the establishment.

Although no specific charges had been filed at midnight last night the official police report said that gambling was in progress on a pool table when officers made the raid and it identified one man as "owner" of the establishment and another as a "dealer."

Identified as "owner" was Allen Floyd, 263 North Diamond sctreet. O. R. Fenton, 326 North Main street, was said to be the "dealer." The report indicated Joe W. Williams, of Detroit, Mich., was "visiting the gambling."

Others arrested, and identified as "visiting," were:

Howard Brooks, 235 North Adams street, Margaret Johnson, 228 North Franklin avenue, William Johnson, 246 North Adams street, Eugene Johnson, 297 North Main street, Samuel Ingram, whose address was given merely as "city," James W. Johnson, 182½ North Main street, Lenton Cross, 575 Daisy street, A. J. Grafton, 316 North Main street, and James Churan, 255 East Sixth street.

None of the persons, had provided bond for their release from jail by midnight last night.

YOUNG ESKIMOS ABANDON IGLOOS

SEATTLE—Having seen what it is like "outside," young Alaskan Eskimos who left their villages and reindeer herds in the far north are not returning home, R. B. Bolton, Veterans Administration contact representative, discovered on a trip from Nome to Point Borrow.

Instead they are going to Nome, Anchorage, Fairbanks and other Alaska towns where opportunities are greater. Many are going into business with GI loans and others plan to obtain a government education.

This has alarmed the older natives, Bolton said upon his return to Seattle, because they have learned that once a youth gets a taste of the outside world he never returns.

The ex-servicemen, who have gone back to their villages, are keenly interested in the various phases of the GI Bill of Rights, Bolton said. He received many inquiries about terminal pay and the educational features from the Eskimos.

CZECH COLLEGE SET UP IN OLD MANSION

BISHOP'S STORTFORD, Eng. —(AP)—One hundred and twenty Czechs, aged 16 to 20, are now well into the first course at Czech college in the country mansion of Hassobury Park.

They started in to study English language and literature and British institutions early in October and will continue until next August.

Organized by the Workers' Academy of Prague, financed by the Czechoslovak government and aided by Britain, the courses will be held every ten months.

Cooper Pens Fictionalized Biography of Anna Zenger

By W. G. ROGERS

ANNA ZENGER: MOTHER OF FREEDOM, by Kent Cooper (Farrar, Straus; $3.75).

ONE of America's immortals, a national hero lionized in textbooks and eulogized in orations, is forced to share a bit of his abundant glory with his wife in this fictionalized biography to which the author gives an unexpected, dramatic twist.

But it is more than gallantry which induced Kent Cooper to take a generous sprig of John Peter Zenger's laurel and add it to Anna's crown, for his diligent research underlies this new and dextrous interpretation.

According to the author's sympathetic readin., of 18th-century records, John Peter was too slow and unimaginative to fill his historic role. But Anna Maul, his second wife, possessed intelligence and education, acquired from her learned father, and vision and a prodigious pioneering energy. With John as printer and Anna as writer, the man and wife together prove to have the phenomenal combination of foresight and courage needed to defy the King's governor and found the colony's first free and independent newspaper. It was "your brains and my hands," as honest John explains it.

The guilty passion which fires Francis Harrison, a stooge of the governor, for the lovely young Anna develops into a major theme, but on the whole Cooper lets the facts speak for themselves; in its natural state, history was already very close to story.

When the prudent Bradford, owner of the first paper, the Gazette, submits timidly to tyrannical censorship, Zenger yields to Anna's persistent demand and establishes the New York Weekly Journal. His forthright independence brings his arrest by trickery, exhausting illegal imprisonment, ostracism of Anna even by friends, and finally the momentous trial at which Andrew Hamilton forces a hostile court to accept truth as a defense for the charge of libel.

Few novelists have had the good fortune of this one who, because of his fight for the cause of press freedom, has delved deeply into the history of the printing press in this land.

Two Battleships Enough For Navy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy has decided two active battleships are enough for its peacetime fleet.

This vestige of the mighty wartime force of capital ships, the Navy discloses, will consist of two 45,000-tonners—The Missouri, assigned to the Atlantic fleet, and the Iowa, in the Pacific.

Originally plans for the postwar fleet contemplated four active battleships, all 45,000-tonners, and two 35,000-ton vessels in the reserve fleet, ready for immediate use.

The leading male role at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Blaire, 300 Sheridan Ave., has been taken over by their new infant son, Ronald Wayne Blaire. "Ronny" balanced the weighing machine at 5 lbs. 10 ozs., when he arrived at Mansfield General hospital on November 2nd.

A new bundle of cheer and happiness has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake W. Pritchard, jr., Butler, Ohio, in the form of an angelic daughter by the name of Ruthalene Virginia Pritchard. This little deb of the diaper class arrived at Mansfield General hospital on November 8th weighing exactly 8 lbs.

There's a new, rosy-cheeked baby boy at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilcox, 230 Saxton road, that answers to the name of Richard Charles Wilcox. The recruit of the carriage gang first arrived at Mansfield General hospital on November 5th when he made the scales sing to the tune of 8 lbs. 12 ozs

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Altman, 629½ Springmill St., are proudly presenting to friends, relatives and neighbors, their captivating new daughter, Nancy Lou Altman. Checking in at Mansfield General hospital November 4th, Nancy weighed 7 lbs. 2 ozs.

A strong candidate for "president" of the piggy bank is Joe Daniels Rawls, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rawls, 84 East 6th St. Joe made himself vocally known at Mansfield General hospital on November 6th, his birthdate. The scales tagged Joe at 7 lbs. 5 ozs.

A bedimpled, little darling by the name of Jeannette Frances Hill, arrived at Mansfield General hospital on the 21st of October. Elated parents. Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Hill, Thornville R. F. D 2, listed her weight in the baby book at 6 lbs. 10 ozs.

Red hair and blue eyes is the way happy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harley Jones, 57 South Walnut St., describe Doublas Harley Jones, their new candidate for the 1963 football team. 7 lbs. 9 ozs., was his weight when he sat on the scales at Mansfield General hospital.

Quite a remarkable daughter beam Mr. and Mrs. Al Karbula, 145 Willow St., whenever they describe their "captivating" miniature Kathleen Joyce Karbula. She was born on the 30th of October at Mansfield General hospital where the recorder of weights listed her weight at 6 lbs., 10 ozs.

November 2nd will always be the big, red letter date at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, 30 Madison Ave., for it marks the birthdate of James Thomas Caldwell, new cooing son. James checked in at Mansfield General hospital with a weight of 8 lbs., 7 ozs.

It's everything from bibs to booties at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Volz, 47 Blanche St., since the arrival of their adorable little girl, Barbara Lynn Volz. Barbara tipped the dish of balance at Mansfield General hospital at exactly 8 lbs., 4 ozs., when she arrived November 4th.

"Blue is the color" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 18 Fern Ave., for a bouncing baby boy has arrived by the name of Jack Edwin Smith. This little "pride of joy" weighed in at Mansfield General hospital at 8 lbs., 1 oz., on October 31st.

A feminine bundle from heaven with "black hair" and "black eyes" is now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keller, 83 East First St. This "sweet" little lassie picked November 3rd as her birthday and celebrated by tipping the scales at Mansfield General hospital to the tune of 6 lbs., 7 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleatis Givens, 221 Bowman St., have filled a pink basinette in their home with a pert 7 lb., 10½ oz., baby girl by the name of Brenda Kaye Givens. She was first seen at Mansfield General hospital on October 30th.

It's an occasion for celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, 40 North Adams St., for an angelic baby daughter by the name of Jatonds Smith has made her appearance there. This cooing cherub picked October 28th as her birthday, Mansfield General hospital as her birthplace, and 8 lbs., 9 ozs., as her weight.

The "charmer class" has accepted a new member by the name of Patricia Ann Jackson. Proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shedrick Jackson, 544½ Daisy St., announce that "Patty" weighed 4 lbs., 10½ ozs., when she first arrived at Mansfield General hospital on October 21st.

BISHOPS URGE PEACE TREATIES

WASHINGTON —(AP)— With a specific denunciation of "Soviet Totalitarianism" and "Aggression," the Catholic bishops of the United States urged last night that the peace treaties "secure men everywhere in the enjoyment of their native rights."

"Then there will be beginnings of peace," the bishops said, "and the fear of war will be banished from men's minds."

"Before we can hope for a good peace," their statement declared, "there must come an agreement among the peacemakers on the basic question of man, as man. If this agreement is reached, then secondary, though important, defects in the peace may be tolerable in the hope of their eventual correction."

The statement, entitled "man and the peace," was issued by the Catholic bishops at the close of their annual meeting here. It was signed in their names by the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare conference, headed by Samuel Cardinal Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, as chairman and Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York as secretary.

The statement mentioned the rights enumerated in the American declaration of independence as those native to man and noted that "throughout the war our battlecry was the defense of native freedoms against Nazi and Fascist totalitarianism."

"The aftermath of war," it continued, "has revealed victorious Soviet totalitarianism no less aggressive against these freedoms in the countries it has occupied.

grinding on a 20 per cent individual income tax cut, challenged the right of the house Republican steering committee to commit the whole party. He suggested that some of the new members may share his feeling that the budget should be balanced before taxes are cut.

The executive committee of the Young Republican National Federation announced a three-day meeting in Toledo, Ohio, starting Dec. 6 to plan "more vigorous participation" in party affairs. The announcement emphasized that 29 of the new house Republicans and five of those in the senate are World War II veterans and relative youngsters.

Swiss People Have Housing Shortage Too

ZURICH — (AP) — The housing shortage is a familiar refrain to Zurich, which has a total of 107,260 dwellings and not a single one available to rent.

The situation is almost as critical elsewhere in Switzerland. In Basel at least 80 families have been living in hotels, in the homes of relatives, in barracks or other makeshift arrangements.

In Biel, some 70 families were served with eviction notices and had no prospect of renting elsewhere.

The housing shortage is attributed principally to the wartime influx of refugees, resumption of tourist traffic and the dearth of new construction during the war.

SAFEGUARD THE HEALTH OF YOUR LOVED ONES

Of greatest importance, says the medical profession, is in the selection of an ambulance or an invalid coach for the removal of a patient to and from the hospital.

So many vital points enter into it—it must be, above all, equipped with the most sanitary and clean linens, the interors thoroughly washable and clean, so that no germs can cling thereto, and then it must be manned by those who are capable in the handling of the sick. Of course you would expect it to be an easy riding vehicle.

For many years we have rendered just such careful service that our firm has been recognized by physicians and health authorities and absolutely dependable.

You may call Jones Ambulance service day or night with the utmost confidence that you will get the very best attention. Special attention is accorded the transportation of mother and new babe—and a surprise awaits the youngster too. Two Phones 4000-6 and 1233-6.

DEMS SUPPORT GOP CAMPAIGN TO OUST BILBO

Full Scale Inquiry Voted Into Anti-Negro Stand of Mississippian.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Republican drive to bar Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) from his seat gained some Democratic aid Saturday as the senate campaign investigating committee voted a full scale inquiry into his anti-Negro stand.

The vote was unanimous on the part of the three Democratic as well as the two Republican committee members.

Public hearings will be held in Mississippi no later than Dec. 2.

Specifically, the senators will explore sworn complaints that Bilbo violated the Constitution by preventing Negroes from voting in the primary in which he won renomination.

Basis For Challenge.

If the charges are upheld, they would provide a basis for the Republican steering committee to proceed with its avowed intention of challenging Bilbo's right to the seat.

The steering committee has appointed Senators Bridges (R, NH) and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) as a subcommittee to plan the strategy. They also are members of the campaign investigating committee. The Democratic members are Chairman Ellender of Louisiana and Senators Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and Maybank of South Carolina. Maybank did not attend today's session but his vote was cast by proxy.

The campaign investigating committee also decided to ask Attorney General Clark to prosecute, if possible, those responsible for a book entitled "Plot Against America" which figured in the Democratic senatorial primary in Montana. The veteran Senator Burton K. Wheeler lost the Democratic nomination to Leif Erickson but Erickson was defeated in the November election.

Ellender termed the book, which attacked Wheeler, "one of the vilest and most contemptible and obscene pieces of literature" ever used against a public office holder.

Bilbo Confident.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — (AP) — Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) said Saturday that "you can tell them that I will be a pallbearer at the funeral of every person who predicts that I will not be seated in the senate," when he was informed of reports from Washington that ill health might prevent his return to congress.

"I will be there ready for action when the senate convenes," the senator added.

Mrs. Sarah Swineford, 92, Recalls D

VILLAGER STILL LIKES TO TELL PIONEER TALES

Remembers Stories Told By 'Old-Timers' At Her Father's Home.

By GEORGE SATTLER

When Mrs. Sarah Swineford was a little girl, before the Civil War, she liked to curl up before the fire on winter evenings at her father's home, near Olivesburg, to listen to old-timers tell thrilling tales of "early days" when Olivesburg was a lusty frontier settlement.

"After listening to them," she recalled, her eyes bright with the memory, "I would fall asleep dreaming of the painted Indians, soldiers, and pioneer men and women who once walked the by-paths of Olivesburg."

Now spry and active at 92, Mrs. Swineford admits with a twinkle, she's old enough to be an old-timer in her own right, and that it is her turn to tell a story or two.

"Although the settlement was not founded officially until 1816, it was a busy place during the War of 1812," she said, recalling some of the town's early history.

"Just west of Whetstone creek, where the roadside park now stands, there was a camp for soldiers of Beall's army. They were here to protect settlers from Indians and British soldiers, whom authorities feared would come down from Canada to destroy homes and drive out Americans.

"While the soldiers were encamped in the area, they cut a trail to the south. For a number of years it was known as 'Beall's Trail.' We know it now as State Route 603."

A few years after the close of the war, Benjamin Montgomery, a pioneer, crossed the Appalachians from Virginia and bought the land where Olivesburg now stands. The town was laid out by him in 1816. 12 miles northeast of Mansfield on what is now State Route 545.

"The new town was called 'Olivesburg' after Montgomery's daughter, Olive," Mrs. Swineford said.

"According to old-timers, Olive was very popular in the new village. She used to go from cabin to cabin, teaching children 'readin' and writin' and helping pioneer women with their chores."

Has Deeds.

Mrs. Swineford, whose husband was a great grandson of Benjamin Montgomery, now has in her possession copies of old deeds made out to the village by the town's founder.

"When Montgomery laid out the town, he deeded the village land for a church, cemetery, public square, and a school," she explained.

According to Mrs. Swineford, the town grew rapidly and soon had taverns, blacksmiths, a tailor shop, tanneries, grist mills, and cabinet-makers.

"Many of the town's early settlers were soldiers who had been in Beall's army and returned to Olivesburg to make their homes," she said.

Actually Olivesburg was much larger in the "early days" than it is now, Mrs. Swineford said. Population of the town now numbers about 150, but it was three or four times that in 1840.

"What really killed Olivesburg," Mrs. Swineford said, "was the Erie railroad being built four miles from the village. From then on it slowly dwindled away."

Richland county histories also record that the railroad virtually put an end to travel over the "Great Trail," which stretched from Detroit to Fort Pitt and passed through Olivesburg. Commerce passing over the trail brought much business to the town's taverns and blacksmiths, and when this business was lost the whole village suffered.

Today Olivesburg has no business firms, except a general store which serves as a combined drug, grocery, and hardware store.

The first school was erected in Olivesburg in 1824, and although the original school has been torn down, the present one stands on the same property that Benjamin Montgomery deeded to the town back in 1819.

The Methodist church, one of the landmarks of Olivesburg today, still stands and is one of the show places of the town. It was built in 1847.

"Before the Methodist church was erected, the early pioneers attended a Presbyterian church five miles from Olivesburg on the road to Ashland," Mrs. Swineford said.

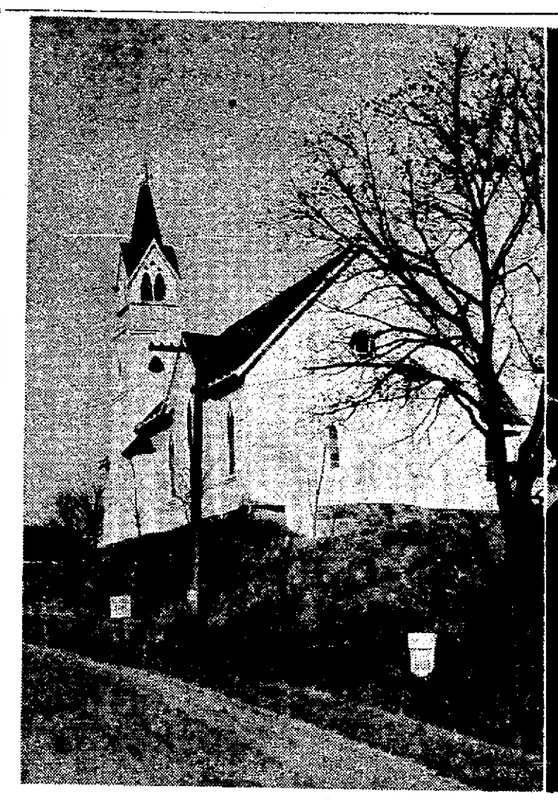
"When I was a girl I heard many tales about the pioneer women of the village walking the five miles, barefooted, and carrying their babies to the service."

Built in 1827, the Presbyterian church no longer stands, Mrs. Swineford said. Only a few stones and grave markers remain to show that the church ever existed.

On the public square of Olivesburg rests a stone taken from Whetstone creek. The stone was placed there as a memorial to the pioneers who founded Olivesburg. Just what date the stone was placed there, Mrs. Swineford doesn't recall, but she does know its significance.

"The stone was one of the larger ones which served as a stepping stone for the Indians, soldiers, and pioneers to cross the stream from the west to get to the village," she said.

"To early settlers the stone was a symbol of what they hoped Olivesburg would be in future generations. A hope, by the way, which was never fulfilled," Mrs. Swineford said.



OLIVESBURG—Founded in 1816 by Benjamin Montgomery, Olivesburg has one of the richest and most interesting histories of any town in Richland county. Near the site where the little village now stands, soldiers of General Beall's army camped during the War of 1812. Later, many soldiers, drawn by the beautiful countryside, returned to make their homes in Olivesburg. Left is the Methodist church, founded in 1847 and built on land deeded to the community by Montgomery. It is Olivesburg's best-known landmark. Center is Mrs. Sarah Swineford, 92, whose husband was a direct descendant of the town's founder. Mrs. Swineford recalls much of life as it was in the early days of the village. At right, Fred McCarty of Olivesburg looks at the stone which was placed in Olivesburg's square in memory of its founder, Benjamin Montgomery. The stone was used in the "old days" as a stepping stone by pedestrians crossing Whetstone creek, which forms the western boundary of the town.—(News-Journal staff photos)

After the business session officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Maud Ruckman, president; Mrs. A. W. Firestone, vice president, and Miss Ollie Ziegler, secretary-treasurer. Miss Ada Gedney was a guest of the evening. Social hour was in charge of Mrs. Bertha Fritz and Mrs. Frank Dawson.

Free Classes On Livestock Offered At Union Rural

Union Rural high school's annual short course in agricultural methods for farmers of the county will begin at the high school building Nov. 25, Thomas F. Lerch, the school's vocational agriculture instructor, announced yesterday.

"Evening classes will be held each Monday at 8 p. m. for 12 weeks. There is no charge for the course and no registration is required. All persons interested are invited to attend," Lerch said.

Title of this year's course, to be taught by Lerch, will be "Efficient Feeding and Livestock Production." It will cover feeding problems, the making and balancing of rations, and the production at efficient levels of dairy livestock, swine and poultry, Lerch said.

The instructor said that recreation for those attending the course will be provided in the form of basketball and volleyball games after each class which is expected to last for approximately one hour and a half.

DEMS EYE KERR AS CHOICE FOR NEW CHAIRMAN

Oklahoma Governor In Line for Hannegan's Post If Leader Resigns.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma is reported to be the choice of party leaders to succeed Robert E. Hannegan as Democratic national chairman if the latter resigns in January as expected.

President Truman was said yesterday by associates to look with favor on the selection of Kerr, who keynoted the 1944 party convention at which Mr. Truman was nominated for vice president.

Kerr threw the 22 Oklahoma votes he received for vice president on the first baliot of the 1944 convention to Mr. Truman on the second ballot, when the latter was nominated.

Friends of Hannegan, who recently went to Walter Reed hospital here for a physical checkup, report he has expressed a desire to step out as chairman at the annual meeting of the Democratic committee here shortly after the first of the year.

However, Hannegan is expected to retain his place in the cabinet as postmaster general.

* * *

State Resists Trend.

The fact that Oklahoma remained in the Democratic column in this year's Republican turnover, electing Roy Turner governor to succeed Kerr, brought the latter again into the limelight. Kerr often has been mentioned as a possible cabinet appointee.

On the other hand, the Democrats' loss of New York apparently retarded the chances of Paul E. Fitzpatrick, that state's party chairman, to succeed Hannegan.

The choice of Kerr would bring to the party leadership a southwestern governor who has been a staunch supporter of the policies of the late President Roosevelt.

* * *

Cool To Wallace.

Kerr, a wealthy oil man, could be expected to be acceptable to conservative southern Democrats, however, since he has few apparent political ties with the wing of the party of which Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of commerce, is a spokesman.

Because Hannegan seemingly exerted strong influence on President Truman in the latter's reaction to legislative proposals, the selection of a new chairman will be watched closely by Republicans as well as Democrats for possible effect on Mr. Truman's relations with the new GOP-controlled congress.

NOTES ASK FREEDOM IN ROMANIAN VOTING

BUCHAREST —(AP)— The British and American governments presented notes to the Romanian government yesterday protesting anew the conduct of next Tuesday's Romanian elections in which Teohari Tatarescu, Communist interior minister, predicted there will be broken heads but no major incidents.

The notes were understood to express dissatisfaction with Romania's reply to previous British and American notes regarding the elections.

(The state department said the United States note was delivered to the government of Premier Petru Groza by Burton Y. Berry, U. S. political representative in Romania. The note, the fourth in a series since May, sought again to prod Romania into holding a free and untrammeled election.

Judge Sentences 12 For Picketing

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (AP) — Twelve men were fined and jailed without bond yesterday on charges of violating an injunction against picketing a cafe and continuing a strike.

Circuit Judge Richard V. Evans gave two six months in jail and the others 90 days. He levied fines totalling $4,589.18.

Dead-Eye Dick Drops 2 Birds With One Shot

'Dead-Eye Dick' is what they're calling Richard Ropp these days.

Dick, partner with his father, Dale, in Ropps' Ven-Mar-Ket, 191 Marion avenue, went hunting with his dad and Don O. Myers, 212 Bowland road, Friday afternoon north of Mansfield.

The tale they tell is that the younger Ropp can now boast of bagging two cock pheasants with one shot.

"Just lucky, I guess," Dick remarked. "I didn't even see the second pheasant. When I went over to pick up the bird I shot at there was the second not far away."

They were the only birds the hunters bagged, although they got 10 rabbits.

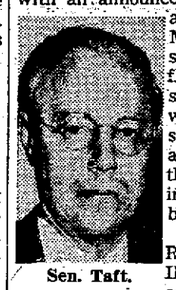
GOP SENATORS SELECT WHITE AND OHIO'S TAFT

Four-Way Leadership Fight Looms In House.

By W. H. MOBLEY

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Senate Republicans apparently settled Saturday on a Taft-White combine to lead them in the 80th congress, but both Democratic and GOP house leadership races were further snarled by new aspirants.

Senator Taft of Ohio put everything but the final seal on the Republican set-up in the senate with an announcement that Senator White of Maine is his personal choice for floor leader. Taft said he himself would "hope" to stay where he is at the head of the party's steering committee, a background job.



Sen. Taft.

In the house, Rep. Dirksen of Illinois announced his candidacy for the Republican leadership. The other avowed contestants are Reps. Halleck of Indiana and Jenkins of Ohio, with Clarence Brown also of Ohio, "available." The race is for the job Rep. Martin of Massachusetts will vacate to become speaker.

Dems Face Contest.

On the Democratic side the possibility of a north-south contest for the minority leadership arose with a report that Rep. Rankin of Mississippi may be a starter.

Some southerners are dissatisfied with the present Democratic leader, Rep. McCormick of Massachusetts, but Rankin's leading part in the affairs of the un-American activities committee has helped put him in disfavor with a number of his colleagues from other sections.

Sen. White

The Rankin report reinforced talk of "drafting" Sam Rayburn of Texas, the retiring speaker who has said he does not want the leadership post to which he is the natural heir. There also was talk of Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania.

ATTLEE DEMANDS CONFIDENCE VOTE

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee, assuming the role of a fighting leader, is prepared to ask the house of commons Monday for his first vote of confidence to crush decisively a revolt in the labor party against his foreign policy.

An authoritative government informant declared Saturday that it was "quite probable" that Attlee would take this action to "show how small" is the vote of rebel labor party members whose criticism of Foreign secretary Ernest Bevin has precipitated a minor crisis in government ranks.

CIO PREPARING TO WAGE 'WAR'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)— The CIO, acting on an assumption that big business has "declared war" on it, is making a determined effort today to get its own house in order.

Existence of a division between the CIO's "right wing" and "left wing" was recognized more bluntly than ever before by the CIO leadership as they prepared for the CIO convention which opens Monday.

President Philip Murray, regarded as virtually certain to accept re-election, acknowledged yesterday in a brief news conference the existence of a special CIO committee which is working on harmony.

Other leaders have disclosed that it has six members, equally divided between the right and left wings.

It was learned that Murray told the executive board in emphatic terms that CIO unions will meet strong resistance this winter in their fight for a second post-war round of wage increases.

Others present at the meeting said Murray referred specifically to recent utterances of Alfred P. Sloan, board chairman of General Motors and that Murray interpreted such utterances as a "declaration of war."

Shoppers 'Warming Up' For Big Buying Rush

Saturday was another busy day in Mansfield stores as Christmas shoppers "warmed up" for the big rush that's expected after Thanksgiving.

Threatening weather slowed the pace a little yesterday afternoon, but merchants said buyers are showing up in large numbers earlier this year than last holiday season, and they're finding more to buy.

Clothing stores reported heavy sales and a plentiful supply of men's and women's robes, but other items, such as men's shirts and pajamas and men's and women's gloves, are even more scarce this year than during the war years.

Some of the popular gift articles, however, are back this season. There are alarm clocks, radios, record players, electrical appliances and fountain pens. They're generally costlier, but they can be found without searching from store to store.

Time was when merchants waited until Thanksgiving to decorate their stores and display windows, but with that holiday still nearly two weeks away, many downtown windows are already bright with yuletide colors and gift wrappings.

Sees Poetry As Balm To Weary Tycoons' Souls

NEW YORK —(AP) —What the tired business man needs nowadays, says A. M. Sullivan, is more poetry.

Sullivan says he is sure of it because he is both a tired business man and a poet.

"It's all a matter of imagination," says Sullivan, an executive of a Wall Street firm and a past president of the Poetry Society of America. Who ever heard of a business man waxing poetic?

"Edgar Lee Masters was a lawyer, Wallace Stevens an insurance executive, MacLeish a lawyer, Sandburg an advertising writer, Keats an apothecary, Chaucer a tax collector, Masefield a carpet worker," Sullivan says.

So there, now, you tired tycoons. Start composing.

Story of Hitler's Last Days Weird

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A German woman flier's weird story of the "comic-tragedy" last days in Adolf Hitler's air raid shelter in Berlin was published last night by Justice Jackson's war crimes prosecution staff.

The flier, Hanna Reitsch, internationally known test pilot, told American questioners that Hitler's personality underwent "complete disintegration" in the final days before the Russians overran the shelter beneath the Reichs chancellery.

Her 10,000-word account was included in the latest of an official series of volumes, along with Hitler's private and political wills and other documents which were not placed in the Nuernberg trial record. In it she said:

1. Almost to the last Hitler clung to the hope of rescue, waved papers in nervous twitching hands, or moved buttons to represent his nonexistent armies on a sweat-stained map "like a young boy playing at war."

2. Both he and Goebbels were incensed at the "treachery" of Goering and Himmler, whom Hitler in his political will ordered expelled from the Nazi party.

3. Goebbels strode and orated about his small quarters, while Martin Bormann, Hitler's designated heir, kept busy "recording the momentous events in the Bunker for Posterity."

4. Eva Braun remained true to her role as the show piece of the Fuehrer's entourage. The rumor of the last minute marriage ceremony Fraulein Reitsch considered "highly unlikely."

5. The possibility that Hitler might have escaped alive was "completely absurd," because he would not have had the strength to leave even had a path to freedom been cleared through the ring of beseigers.

Fraulein Reitsch was credited by the interrogators with being possibly the last person to quit the shelter and live.

POSSE SCALES PEAK TO REACH WRECKED PLANE

11 Aboard Airliner Believed Dead After Brief Report From Searching Party.

BURBANK, Calif. — (AP) — Marshall Wooster, Western Airlines chief pilot, said last night that nine members of a ground posse had reached the wreckage of a Western plane which crashed Wednesday on White mountain with 11 persons aboard.

Wooster said there was no indication from the posse that any of the 11 aboard the plane were still alive, and he presumed all were dead.

Two of the nine men to reach the wreckage made camp and prepared to spend the night on the snow-covered peak, Wooster reported. The other seven started back to the camp at the base of the mountain at dusk.

Gets Radio Message.

The new information Wooster said was radioed to the camp from a walkie talkie carried by the main searching party, which he earlier reported had turned back after struggling upward to within 300 yards of the wreck.

Wooster said he dropped a note to the men afoot, telling them they apparently were within 300 yards of the plane, asking if they could go on to it if food and sleeping bags were dropped to them and requesting them to write "yes" or "no" in the snow.

He said they got the note, wrote "no" in the snow and continued backtracking down the mountain, evidently feeling it was unsafe to remain on the peak longer.

Wooster also said he could see the horse and mule-drawn search party turning down the extremely rugged and steep slope, covered with waist-deep snow and thick brush.

It was possible the party was seeking a different path but Wooster said it appeared from the air the searchers were forced to seek safety themselves before dark.

DEM CAMPAIGN COSTS $1,375

It cost the Democratic party in Richland county $1,375.38 to run its campaign prior to the Nov. 5 election, an expense account filed with the board of elections showed yesterday.

Compiled by James J. Jurgens, treasurer of the Democratic county executive committee, the statement shows contributions received by the party totaled $1,420.80.

The balance of $45.42 is to be expended in paying costs of such current obligations as rent, electricity, gas and telephone service, the report indicates.

Expense figures on the cost of the Republican campaign had not been filed yesterday. Ralph M. Hardy, chairman of the GOP county executive committee, said the party's expense account probably would be filed early this week.

Meanwhile, three more candidates had filed their reports with the board of elections. They were Harry M. Bowman, defeated Democratic candidate for state representative; John L. Catlett, Bowman's victorious Republican opponent and C. L. Shoup, Republican county commissioner re-elected to his second term.

Bowman's statement shows he received $192.75 in contributions and spent $244.30. Catlett reported no contributions received, but showed personal campaign expenses of $316.43.

Shoup's account indicates no contributions received but reports expenses of $250.20.

'MISS AMERICA' TO WED

They plan to be married early in January, having met a year ago when she was a guest on one of Koplan's radio shows.

Union Leader Again Spurns Truce Appeal

Only Basic Industries, Householders With Less Than 10-Day Supply Can Get Fuel As Government Clamps On Sweeping Restrictions.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A drastic government order froze the nation's meager soft coal supplies and placed them under rationing yesterday as John L. Lewis stonily stood pat on the challenge which threatens a strike at midnight Wednesday.

Going far beyond the freeze order issued at the time of the bituminous strike last spring, the government seized control not only of future coal production but also of all stocks now in transit and in dealers' yards. It will be doled out only to utilities, railroads, ships, hospitals, laundries, food plants and householders having less than ten day's supply on hand.

"Issuance of these orders is an essential precaution in view of the unwillingness of the president of the United Mine Workers to accede with the president's request to reconsider the government's proposal looking toward a settlement of the coal controversy," Secretary of the Interior Krug told the worried public in a statement.

As the government thus prepared for the worst, Lewis ignored the administration's second appeal for a 60-day truce and its pointed warning that he has no legal grounds for terminating the miners' present contract.

Members of the operators' negotiating committee, who had agreed to the administration proposal for negotiations with Lewis over his new wage demands, took Lewis' refusal at its face and scattered to their homes.

The impasse continued without signs of a break. A high government official reported privately that the administration has not decided what further steps to take. Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, accompanying Mr. Truman to the Navy-Penn State football game at Annapolis, told reporters that "there have been absolutely no developments overnight."

The freeze of the coal supplies, effective as of noon Saturday, was in three orders. One covered coal in transit and that which may be produced hereafter, estimated to come to 8,500,000 tons by midnight Wednesday with normal production. Another covered all coal in shipment on the Great Lakes or other waterways, including tidewater shipments not affected by earlier freeze orders. The third covered all coal in retail yards.

None of this coal may be distributed to consumers from now on except upon permission of the Solid Fuels Administration. This agency authorized its area and regional representatives to issue special coal supplies sparingly "if such action is necessary to safeguard the health or safety of the community."

Present Stocks Low.

Stocks now on hand are estimated to amount to a 37-day supply under normal consumption, compared to a 42-day supply on hand at the time of the strike last spring.

The freeze covers only soft coal. Anthracite may be distributed normally.

Freeze orders in the past have come only a few hours before or after a strike was to occur. The effect of yesterday's order is to segregate all production Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

* * *

Fourth 'Freeze.'

This is the fourth time the government has stepped in to take over the existing coal supply when faced with a mine stoppage. Similar orders were issued in 1943, 1945 and last spring.

Reports from the bituminous coal fields in Pennsylvania indicated that some miners fear the prospect of pay losses during a walk-out with the Christmas season approaching. In this connection, the Solid Fuels Administration reported that more miners than usual on a Saturday seemed to be working and said this may mean they are trying to make as much money as possible before midnight Wednesday.

Order Catches Dealers With Skimpy Supplies

A threat of a serious coal shortage in Mansfield coal bins was voiced by fuel dealers here yesterday, and the likelihood of a cold snap today brought added pessimism as sale of all soft coal was prohibited by the government.

Mansfield dealers were taken by surprise at the Solid Fuel administration's action in freezing supplies. One dealer said he was "working overtime" in an attempt to supply customers, and that the order would catch some homes here with nearly-empty bins.

However, under the SFA order dealers would be permitted to sell coal to consumers upon written certification that the consumer has less than 10 days' supply of coal on hand.

Industrial consumers generally had adequate coal on hand—Westinghouse Electric corporation has a six-week supply of fuel—but the cut-off of supplies of raw materials may affect Mansfield manufacturers in a matter of days or weeks.

Laser and Walker Coal company reported a "three or four days' supply," based on normal demand. The concern said it had approximately 25 tons on hand.

One large dealer declared the city-wide supply of coal was "far below normal," and he predicted "trouble ahead" if the government order remained in effect for more than a week.

The Velcrest Coal Service reported about 125 tons in its bins. An official said such a supply normally would last from three or four to 10 days, "depending on the weather."

H and H Coal company said it had a "fair" supply, with six loaded railroad cars in its yards.

Scott Hagerman, owner of the Hagerman Coal company, said his supply probably "would last a week under normal conditions, and I've got about 100 tons."

POLICE ARREST TWELVE AFTER GAMBLING RAID

Patrolmen Report Dice Game In Progress In Main Street Shop.

Twelve persons were jailed for investigation last night after police arrested them at the Veterans Smoke shop, 222 North Main street, where officers said a dice game was in progress.

The arrests were made at 8:45 p. m. when Police Lieut. Clare W. Kyler and a squad of three patrolmen entered the establishment.

Although no specific charges had been filed at midnight last night the official police report said that gambling was in progress on a pool table when officers made the raid and it identified one man as "owner" of the establishment and another as a "dealer."

Identified as "owner" was Allen Floyd, 263 North Diamond sctreet. O. R. Fenton, 326 North Main street, was said to be the "dealer." The report indicated Joe W. Williams, of Detroit, Mich., was "visiting the gambling."

Others arrested, and identified as "visiting," were:

Howard Brooks, 235 North Adams street, Margaret Johnson, 228 North Franklin avenue, William Johnson, 246 North Adams street, Eugene Johnson, 297 North Main street, Samuel Ingram, whose address was given merely as "city," James W. Johnson, 182½ North Main street, Lenton Cross, 575 Daisy street, A. J. Grafton, 316 North Main street, and James Churan, 255 East Sixth street.

None of the persons, had provided bond for their release from jail by midnight last night.

YOUNG ESKIMOS ABANDON IGLOOS

SEATTLE—Having seen what it is like "outside," young Alaskan Eskimos who left their villages and reindeer herds in the far north are not returning home, R. B. Bolton, Veterans Administration contact representative, discovered on a trip from Nome to Point Borrow.

Instead they are going to Nome, Anchorage, Fairbanks and other Alaska towns where opportunities are greater. Many are going into business with GI loans and others plan to obtain a government education.

This has alarmed the older natives, Bolton said upon his return to Seattle, because they have learned that once a youth gets a taste of the outside world he never returns.

The ex-servicemen, who have gone back to their villages, are keenly interested in the various phases of the GI Bill of Rights, Bolton said. He received many inquiries about terminal pay and the educational features from the Eskimos.

Cooper Pens Fictionalized Biography of Anna Zenger

By W. G. ROGERS

ANNA ZENGER: MOTHER OF FREEDOM, by Kent Cooper (Farrar, Straus; $3.75).

ONE of America's immortals, a national hero lionized in textbooks and eulogized in orations, is forced to share a bit of his abundant glory with his wife in this fictionalized biography to which the author gives an unexpected, dramatic twist.

But it is more than gallantry which induced Kent Cooper to take a generous sprig of John Peter Zenger's laurel and add it to Anna's crown, for his diligent research underlies this new and dextrous interpretation.

According to the author's sympathetic readin., of 18th-century records, John Peter was too slow and unimaginative to fill his historic role. But Anna Maul, his second wife, possessed intelligence and education, acquired from her learned father, and vision and a prodigious pioneering energy. With John as printer and Anna as writer, the man and wife together prove to have the phenomenal combination of foresight and courage needed to defy the King's governor and found the colony's first free and independent newspaper. It was "your brains and my hands," as honest John explains it.

The guilty passion which fires Francis Harrison, a stooge of the governor, for the lovely young Anna develops into a major theme, but on the whole Cooper lets the facts speak for themselves; in its natural state, history was already very close to story.

When the prudent Bradford, owner of the first paper, the Gazette, submits timidly to tyrannical censorship, Zenger yields to Anna's persistent demand and establishes the New York Weekly Journal. His forthright independence brings his arrest by trickery, exhausting illegal imprisonment, ostracism of Anna even by friends, and finally the momentous trial at which Andrew Hamilton forces a hostile court to accept truth as a defense for the charge of libel.

Few novelists have had the good fortune of this one who, because of his fight for the cause of press freedom, has delved deeply into the history of the printing press in this land.

Two Battleships Enough For Navy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy has decided two active battleships are enough for its peacetime fleet.

This vestige of the mighty wartime force of capital ships, the Navy discloses, will consist of two 45,000-tonners—The Missouri, assigned to the Atlantic fleet, and the Iowa, in the Pacific.

Originally plans for the postwar fleet contemplated four active battleships, all 45,000-tonners, and two 35,000-ton vessels in the reserve fleet, ready for immediate use.

SWAN ANNOUNCES THE BABIES

—by Swan Cleaners

An adorable little "miss" by the name of Cheryl Lucille Fulwider is now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Fulwider, R. F. D. 1, Mansfield. "Cheryl" arrived at Mansfield General hospital October 31st with a weight of 7 lbs. 12 ozs.

The leading male role at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Blaire, 300 Sheridan Ave., has been taken over by their new infant son, Ronald Wayne Blaire. "Ronny" balanced the weighing machine at 5 lbs. 10 ozs., when he arrived at Mansfield General hospital on November 2nd.

A new bundle of cheer and happiness has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake W. Pritchard, jr., Butler, Ohio, in the form of an angelic daughter by the name of Ruthalene Virginia Pritchard. This little deb of the diáper class arrived at Mansfield General hospital on November 8th weighing exactly 8 lbs.

There's a new, rosy-cheeked baby boy at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilcox, 230 Saxton road, that answers to the name of Richard Charles Wilcox. The recruit of the carriage gang first arrived at Mansfield General hospital on November 5th when he made the scales sing to the tune of 8 lbs. 12 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Altman, 629½ Springmill St., are proudly presenting to friends, relatives and neighbors, their captivating new daughter, Nancy Lou Altman. Checking in at Mansfield General hospital November 4th, Nancy weighed 7 lbs. 2 ozs.

A strong candidate for "president" of the piggy bank is Joe Daniels Rawls, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rawls, 84 East 6th St. Joe made himself vocally known at Mansfield General hospital on November 6th, his birthdate. The scales tagged Joe at 7 lbs. 5 ozs.

A bedimpled, little darling by the name of Jeannette Frances Hill, arrived at Mansfield General hospital on the 21st of October. Elated parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Hill, Thornville R. F. D 2, listed her weight in the baby book at 6 lbs. 10 ozs.

Red hair and blue eyes is the way happy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harley Jones, 57 South Walnut St., describe Doublas Harley Jones, their new candidate for the 1963 football team. 7 lbs. 9 ozs., was his weight when he sat on the scales at Mansfield General hospital.

Quite a remarkable daughter beam Mr. and Mrs. Al Karbula, 145 Willow St., whenever they describe their "captivating" miniature Kathleen Joyce Karbula. She was born on the 30th of October at Mansfield General hospital where the recorder of weights listed her weight at 6 lbs., 10 ozs.

November 2nd will always be the big, red letter date at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, 30 Madison Ave., for it marks the birthdate of James Thomas Caldwell, new cooing son. James checked in at Mansfield General hospital with a weight of 8 lbs., 7 ozs.

It's everything from bibs to booties at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Volz, 47 Blanche St., since the arrival of their adorable little girl, Barbara Lynn Volz. Barbara tipped the dish of balance at Mansfield General hospital at exactly 8 lbs., 4 ozs., when she arrived November 4th.

"Blue is the color" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 18 Fern Ave., for a bouncing baby boy has arrived by the name of Jack Edwin Smith. This little "pride of joy" weighed in at Mansfield General hospital at 8 lbs., 1 oz., on October 31st.

A feminine bundle from heaven with "black hair" and "black eyes" is now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keller, 83 East First St. This "sweet" little lassie picked November 3rd as her birthday and celebrated by tipping the scales at Mansfield General hospital to the tune of 6 lbs., 7 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleatis Givens, 221 Bowman St., have filled a pink basinette in their home with a pert 7 lb., 10½ oz., baby girl by the name of Brenda Kaye Givens. She was first seen at Mansfield General hospital on October 30th.

It's an occasion for celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, 40 North Adams St., for an angelic baby daughter by the name of Jatonds Smith has made her appearance there. This cooing cherub picked October 28th as her birthday, Mansfield General hospital as her birthplace, and 8 lbs., 9 ozs., as her weight.

The "charmer class" has accepted a new member by the name of Patricia Ann Jackson. Proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shedrick Jackson, 544½ Daisy St., announce that "Patty" weighed 4 lbs., 10½ ozs., when she first arrived at Mansfield General hospital on October 21st.

BISHOPS URGE PEACE TREATIES

WASHINGTON —(AP)— With a specific denunciation of "Soviet Totalitarianism" and "Aggression," the Catholic bishops of the United States urged last night that the peace treaties "secure men everywhere in the enjoyment of their native rights."

"Then there will be beginnings of peace," the bishops said, "and the fear of war will be banished from men's minds."

"Before we can hope for a good peace," their statement declared, "there must come an agreement among the peacemakers on the basic question of man, as man. If this agreement is reached, then secondary, though important, defects in the peace may be tolerable in the hope of their eventual correction."

The statement, entitled "man and the peace," was issued by the Catholic bishops at the close of their annual meeting here. It was signed in their names by the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare conference, headed by Samuel Cardinal Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, as chairman and Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York as secretary.

The statement mentioned the rights enumerated in the American declaration of independence as those native to man and noted that "throughout the war our battlecry was the defense of native freedoms against Nazi and Fascist totalitarianism."

"The aftermath of war," it continued, "has revealed victorious Soviet totalitarianism no less aggressive against these freedoms in the countries it has occupied.

grinding on a 20 per cent individual income tax cut, challenged the right of the house Republican steering committee to commit the whole party. He suggested that some of the new members may share his feeling that the budget should be balanced before taxes are cut.

The executive committee of the Young Republican National Federation announced a three-day meeting in Toledo, Ohio, starting Dec. 6 to plan "more vigorous participation" in party affairs. The announcement emphasized that 29 of the new house Republicans and five of those in the senate are World War II veterans and relative youngsters.

Swiss People Have Housing Shortage Too

ZURICH — (AP) — The housing shortage is a familiar refrain to Zurich, which has a total of 107,260 dwellings and not a single one available to rent.

The situation is almost as critical elsewhere in Switzerland. In Basel at least 80 families have been living in hotels, in the homes of relatives, in barracks or other makeshift arrangements.

In Biel, some 70 families were served with eviction notices and had no prospect of renting elsewhere.

The housing shortage is attributed principally to the wartime influx of refugees, resumption of tourist traffic and the dearth of new construction during the war.

BALLOTS STOLEN

BECKLEY, W. Va. —(AP)— The Raleigh county prosecuting attorney's office reported Saturday that a number of ballot boxes containing votes of the November 5 election had been stolen from the county clerk's office.

SAFEGUARD THE HEALTH OF YOUR LOVED ONES

Of greatest importance, says the medical profession, is in the selection of an ambulance or an invalid coach for the removal of a patient to and from the hospital.

So many vital points enter into it—it must be, above all, equipped with the most sanitary and clean linens, the interors thoroughly washable and clean, so that no germs can cling thereto, and then it must be manned by those who are capable in the handling of the sick. Of course you would expect it to be an easy riding vehicle.

For many years we have rendered just such careful service that our firm has been recognized by physicians and health authorities and absolutely dependable.

You may call Jones Ambulance service day or night with the utmost confidence that you will get the very best attention. Special attention is accorded the transportation of mother and new babe—and a surprise awaits the youngster too. Two Phones 4000-6 and 1233-6.

DEMS SUPPORT GOP CAMPAIGN TO OUST BILBO

Full Scale Inquiry Voted Into Anti-Negro Stand of Mississippian.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Republican drive to bar Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) from his seat gained some Democratic aid Saturday as the senate campaign investigating committee voted a full scale inquiry into his anti-Negro stand.

The vote was unanimous on the part of the three Democratic as well as the two Republican committee members.

Public hearings will be held in Mississippi no later than Dec. 2.

Specifically, the senators will explore sworn complaints that Bilbo violated the Constitution by preventing Negroes from voting in the primary in which he won renomination.

Basis For Challenge.

If the charges are upheld, they would provide a basis for the Republican steering committee to proceed with its avowed intention of challenging Bilbo's right to the seat.

The steering committee has appointed Senators Bridges (R, NH) and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) as a subcommittee to plan the strategy. They also are members of the campaign investigating committee. The Democratic members are Chairman Ellender of Louisiana and Senators Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and Maybank of South Carolina. Maybank did not attend today's session but his vote was cast by proxy.

The campaign investigating committee also decided to ask Attorney General Clark to prosecute, if possible, those responsible for a book entitled "Plot Against America" which figured in the Democratic senatorial primary in Montana. The veteran Senator Burton K. Wheeler lost the Democratic nomination to Leif Erickson but Erickson was defeated in the November election.

Ellender termed the book, which attacked Wheeler, "one of the vilest and most contemptible and obscene pieces of literature" ever used against a public office holder.

Bilbo Confident.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — (AP) — Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) said Saturday that "you can tell them that I will be a pallbearer at the funeral of every person who predicts that I will not be seated in the senate," when he was informed of reports from Washington that ill health might prevent his return to congress.

"I will be there ready for action when the senate convenes," the senator added.

Mrs. Sarah Swineford, 92, Recalls Days When Olivesburg Was 'Young'

VILLAGER STILL LIKES TO TELL PIONEER TALES

Remembers Stories Told By 'Old-Timers' At Her Father's Home.

By GEORGE SATTLER

When Mrs. Sarah Swineford was a little girl, before the Civil War, she liked to curl up before the fire on winter evenings at her father's home, near Olivesburg, to listen to old-timers tell thrilling tales of "early days" when Olivesburg was a lusty frontier settlement.

"After listening to them," she recalled, her eyes bright with the memory, "I would fall asleep dreaming of the painted Indians, soldiers, and pioneer men and women who once walked the by-paths of Olivesburg."

Now spry and active at 92, Mrs. Swineford admits with a twinkle, she's old enough to be an old-timer in her own right, and that it is her turn to tell a story or two.

"Although the settlement was not founded officially until 1816, it was a busy place during the War of 1812," she said, recalling some of the town's early history.

"Just west of Whetstone creek, where the roadside park now stands, there was a camp for soldiers of Beall's army. They were here to protect settlers from Indians and British soldiers, whom authorities feared would come down from Canada to destroy homes and drive out Americans.

"While the soldiers were encamped in the area, they cut a trail to the south. For a number of years it was known as 'Beall's Trail.' We know it now as State Route 603."

A few years after the close of the war, Benjamin Montgomery, a pioneer, crossed the Appalachians from Virginia and bought the land where Olivesburg now stands. The town was laid out by him in 1816, 12 miles northeast of Mansfield on what is now State Route 545.

"The new town was called 'Olivesburg' after Montgomery's daughter, Olive," Mrs. Swineford said.

"According to old-timers, Olive was very popular in the new village. She used to go from cabin to cabin, teaching children 'readin' and writin' and helping pioneer women with their chores."

Has Deeds.

Mrs. Swineford, whose husband was a great grandson of Benjamin Montgomery, now has in her possession copies of old deeds made out to the village by the town's founder.

"When Montgomery laid out the town, he deeded the village land for a church, cemetery, public square, and a school," she explained.

According to Mrs. Swineford, the town grew rapidly and soon had taverns, blacksmiths, a tailor shop, tanneries, grist mills, and cabinet-makers.

"Many of the town's early settlers were soldiers who had been in Beall's army and returned to Olivesburg to make their homes," she said.

Actually Olivesburg was much larger in the "early days" than it is now, Mrs. Swineford said. Population of the town now numbers about 150, but it was three or four times that in 1840.

"What really killed Olivesburg," Mrs. Swineford said, "was the Erie railroad being built four miles from the village. From then on it slowly dwindled away."

Richland county histories also record that the railroad virtually put an end to travel over the "Great Trail," which stretched from Detroit to Fort Pitt and passed through Olivesburg. Commerce passing over the trail brought much business to the town's taverns and blacksmiths, and when this business was lost the whole village suffered.

Today Olivesburg has no business firms, except a general store which serves as a combined drug, grocery, and hardware store.

The first school was erected in Olivesburg in 1824, and although the original school has been torn down, the present one stands on the same property that Benjamin Montgomery deeded to the town back in 1819.

The Methodist church, one of the landmarks of Olivesburg today, still stands and is one of the show places of the town. It was built in 1847.

"Before the Methodist church was erected, the early pioneers attended a Presbyterian church five miles from Olivesburg on the road to Ashland," Mrs. Swineford said.

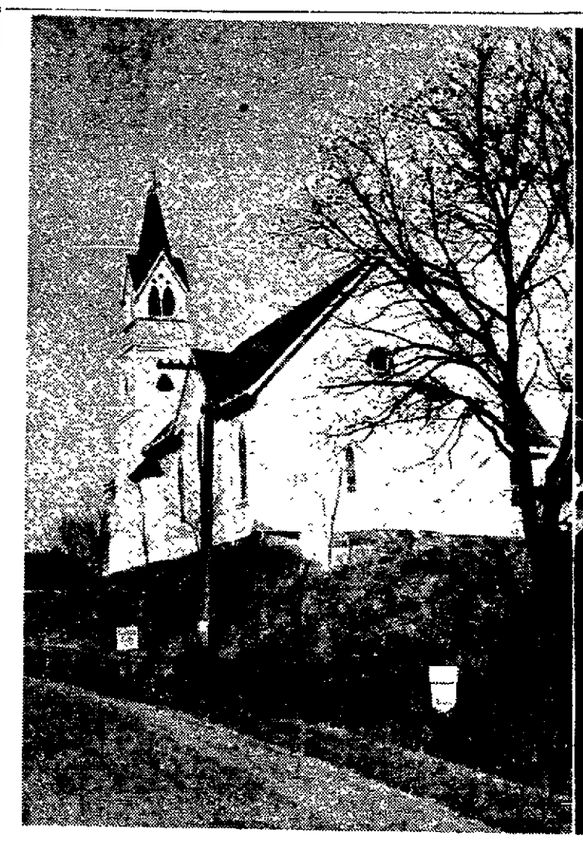
"When I was a girl I heard many tales about the pioneer women of the village walking the five miles, barefooted, and carrying their babies to the service."

Built in 1827, the Presbyterian church no longer stands, Mrs. Swineford said. Only a few stones and grave markers remain to show that the church ever existed.

On the public square of Olivesburg rests a stone taken from Whetstone creek. The stone was placed there as a memorial to the pioneers who founded Olivesburg. Just what date the stone was placed there, Mrs. Swineford doesn't recall, but she does know its significance.

"The stone was one of the larger ones which served as a stepping stone for the Indians, soldiers, and pioneers to cross the stream from the west to get to the village," she said.

"To early settlers the stone was a symbol of what they hoped Olivesburg would be in future generations. A hope, by the way, which was never fulfilled," Mrs. Swineford said.



OLIVESBURG—Founded in 1816 by Benjamin Montgomery, Olivesburg has one of the richest and most interesting histories of any town in Richland county. Near the site where the little village now stands, soldiers of General Beall's army camped during the War of 1812. Later, many soldiers, drawn by the beautiful countryside, returned to make their homes in Olivesburg. Left is the Methodist church, founded in 1847 and built on land deeded to the community by Montgomery. It is Olivesburg's best-known landmark. Center is Mrs. Sarah Swineford, 92, whose husband was a direct descendant of the town's founder. Mrs. Swineford recalls much of life as it was in the early days of the village. At right, Fred McCarty of Olivesburg looks at the stone which was placed in Olivesburg's square in memory of its founder, Benjamin Montgomery. The stone was used in the "old days" as a stepping stone by pedestrians crossing Whetstone creek, which forms the western boundary of the town.—(News-Journal staff photos)

CLUB ELECTS OFICERS

SHILOH — The Past Matrons club of the Eastern Star was entertained on Friday by Mrs. C. H. Rose at her home. After the business session officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Maud Ruckman, president; Mrs. A. W. Firestone, vice president, and Miss Ollie Ziegler, secretary-treasurer. Miss Ada Gedney was a guest of the evening. Social hour was in charge of Mrs. Bertha Fritz and Mrs. Frank Dawson.

Free Classes On Livestock Offered At Union Rural

Union Rural high school's annual short course in agricultural methods for farmers of the county will begin at the high school building Nov. 25, Thomas F. Lerch, the school's vocational agriculture instructor, announced yesterday.

"Evening classes will be held each Monday at 8 p. m. for 12 weeks. There is no charge for the course and no registration is required. All persons interested are invited to attend," Lerch said.

Title of this year's course, to be taught by Lerch, will be "Efficient Feeding and Livestock Production." It will cover feeding problems, the making and balancing of rations, and the production at efficient levels of dairy livestock, swine and poultry, Lerch said.

The instructor said that recreation for those attending the course will be provided in the form of basketball and volleyball games after each class which is expected to last for approximately one hour and a half.

The ornamental top of a column or pilaster is called the capital, or "cap."

O'Neil's

Did you get the name? O'Neil's . . . O-N-E-I-L-S. Easy to remember! Do you like the sound of it? We don't want to brag, but lots of people do . . . and have for years! For instance, in Akron the folks have taken to the name for nearly 70 years.

BACK IN 1877 . . .

Yes, one bright September day in 1877 Michael O'Neil proudly hung his first store sign on East Market Street in Akron, to the accompaniment of canal boat whistles. The thriving village liked what they found in this little store, liked the courteous treatment they got . . . and kept on coming in. Soon everybody was saying "You can get it at O'Neil's". People are still saying it, for today O'Neil's is Akron's greatest store.

A YEAR AGO . . .

A year ago, O'Neil's invited Massillon, Ohio to come shopping in a modern new store on Lincoln Way East . . . and now Massillon is saying, "You can get it at O'Neil's".

LAST JULY . . .

One hot July day this summer, 25,000 folks from Coshocton, Ohio area came to shop for the first time in the air conditioned comfort of O'Neil's friendly, big store on Main Street in Coshocton.

NOW . . . O'NEIL'S COMES TO MANSFIELD!

Third, Main and Walnut Streets are edging up to a splendid building that will soon be O'Neil's. We like Mansfield . . . and we hope Mansfield will like us. From time to time, until our store opens, we would like to tell you our story . . . about our policies, services and merchandise. So won't you please watch this column, and let us tell you . . .

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Millions Suffer As Prices Rise

PERSISTENT pressure by organized groups to gain wage increases sufficient to cover higher living costs totally disregards the welfare of what may well be a majority of Americans who are compelled to get along on fixed incomes —many of them distressingly small.

Figures just compiled by Editorial Research Reports present an illuminating picture of this situation, which is of serious concern to many millions of people who have been watching mounting prices with dread as they consider the diminishing purchasing power of their relatively few dollars.

The report lists seven classes of such persons as statistically countable. These are the receivers of retirement pensions, survivors' benefits, disability benefits, family allowance to dependents of men in the armed services, veterans' educational benefits, public assistance, life insurance and annuity payments.

The number of persons in these seven classes is 10,211,000—not counting their families.

Less easily counted, but estimated at 3,000,000, are persons dependent on investment income—largely retired persons and widows, upon whom any rise in living costs falls heavily.

This calculation takes no account of the probable 25,000,000 salaried workers, whose income is relatively inflexible and who are sufferers from reduction in purchasing power during a period of rising wages and prices such as is now being experienced.

While hourly rated workers do appear to win a net gain in purchasing power as their wages are readjusted to prices, the addition to labor costs is distributed pro rata among all those whose income is fixed, and there is no resultant gain in national purchasing power—which is the goal being aimed toward as an outlet to full production and maintenance of American standards of living.

Just how the whole troublesome problem will finally be worked out cannot yet be foreseen—but some equalizing method must be evolved if the general welfare is to be more highly regarded than continuance of policies designed to confer benefits only on organized minorities.

Red Cross First Aid Stations

SIXTEEN persons have lost their lives on Richland county highways thus far in 1946. Last year at this time the total was 10. In figures, this is a 60 per cent increase in highway traffic fatalities. In personal tragedy, the increase is immeasurable.

Serious injuries run into the hundreds.

Taking cognizance of this, the Richland county chapter of the American Red Cross is setting up four first aid stations at danger spots on four highways. Plans are complete for two of the stations on U. S. 30N and U. S. 30S. Later, stations will be established on Ashland road and Route 13 south of the city. The Red Cross will train personnel to man these stations.

Hearty commendation is due the Richland county chapter for this effort to cut down the highway toll. The final answer to highway safety, however, lies with the driver who holds the key to his own safety and that of others on the road. But such steps as this by the Red Cross serve the double purpose of actually rendering aid in an emergency and also making motorists more safety conscious.

Flowers That Resist Autumn Chill

IN A SHORT TIME colored lights and strings of laurel are going to make Central park a yuletide fairyland again. Then, after the first of the year there will be days when snow will robe the trees and shrubs with a soft whiteness richer than the opera cape of any millionaire's wife.

In summer, flowers and green foliage make the park a beauty spot in the heart of the city. There are rare winter days, too, when a glistening ice coats the boughs with diamond brilliance.

But there are times between, particularly in the autumn, when the flowers are gone, the trees are bare and cold winds whisk along desolate sidewalks in the park.

This need not be. Central park could be a place of beauty even on such days as we have now. The answer is a new type of chrysanthemum whose roots survive sub-zero temperatures and whose bloom resists severe frost. Any park department can get seeds for these flowers by writing to Mrs. Albert HD. Lasker, Chrysler Building, New York City.

Planting of these flowers in the regular beds or along some of the walks would add a flash of beauty to the heart of the city in the drab days of early winter. Other city parks might like to use them, too. Why not?

Safeguarding Individual Rights

THE ISSUE at stake in the war just past was not economic but moral, according to Stanley High, magazine editor and writer, in a recent speech. Our ideal, and that of Great Britain, he said, is that of the sacredness of man the individual.

Hitler's regime and the present one of the USSR have had one basic principle in common. It is the idea that the individual is nothing, the state is all. That is the point of greatest divergence between their philosophy and our own. The sacredness of individual rights is the idea which underlies our insistence upon the right of small nations to carve out their own destinies, rather than to be swallowed up by large, powerful governments.

Step by step, too slowly, no doubt, to suit our national impatience, we are making it clear to the disciples of tyranny that we are willing and able to stand by our national ideal with all the resources at our command.

Good To Learn About the Past

AT YALE UNIVERSITY the other day a gigantic mural depicting the Age of Reptiles was unveiled as part of a two-day program marking the university's return to a peacetime curriculum which permits the study of ancient art.

While life in the age of the dinosaurs probably was far from pleasant, it is strangely refreshing to turn to that distant past, away from today's complexities of the atomic bomb, labor unrest and UN worries. It's good to know that Yale thinks it's all right now for man to have this kind of escape into the past.

Soviet Russia's Flaying of Franco Sheer Hypocrisy, Bromfield Says

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

IT HAS remained for Sumner Welles to say what should have been said long ago, quite openly and in a clear and ringing voice, in the Assembly of the United Nations. It was a simple statement of fact—that there was nothing to choose between the government of Tito in Jugoslavia and that of Franco in Spain.

Behind the statement lie implied standards of education, of genuine democracy, of freedom, of justice, even of civilization. Personally, if the choice were offered to me, I should take the Franco government as one which, at least, was the less psychoneurotic of the two. Why such a statement has not been made openly in the U. N. sessions is one of the mysteries which must be listed under the head of "old fashioned diplomacy" —that muffling, deadening, sometimes disastrous institution which has so often delayed the progress of man and so often created for him untold confusion and suffering.

BROMFIELD

No real evil ever came of plain and honest speaking, especially upon a subject in which the truth is as evident as the fact that the sun rose this morning.

The complaints of the existing Polish and Jugoslav governments against the Franco government of Spain are possibly the greatest single piece of bald-faced hypocrisy ever practised in history.

Why, during the U. N. sessions, has someone not said quite simply, "Both the Polish and the Jugoslavian governments are not governments of the people at all, but merely puppets set up by Soviet Russia, a fact as clear as crystal and well-known to any man in the street in every part of the world. There are no free elections either in Spain or in the Soviet republic or any in the states of any of its puppet allies. Let Soviet Russia cease this childish pretense and be honest. Let Soviet Russia cease corrupting the meaning of the word "democracy!"

Such a declaration would not cause war but it would serve to clear the air and defeat the absurd, and sometimes childish, tactics of Molotov and Stalin. It would be like telling the Devil himself to stop calling everyone else a Devil. This is not Russia-baiting. It is a perfectly simple, transparent fact.

The apologists in this country for Stalin and Molotov—men like Henry Wallace are contemptible for two reasons—They distort and confuse every issue by ignoring both fact and logic, and in this action they do a great disservice to humanity and to the peace they keep yammering about.

In a sense, they are the worst enemies of mankind and of peace because their every utterance sets back the progress of honesty and dignity in the relationship between men and between nations.

The writer can scarcely be called pro-Franco. He once served as chairman of a committee which rehabilitated and repatriated the members of the Lincoln Brigade, an organization of American volunteers pledged to overthrow the Franco government. He helped personally to repatriate a number of English and Canadian volunteers against Franco. In these negotiations he had experience with the Communist element and with Soviet manuevers, and emerged from the experience with the coldly reasoned conviction that it was difficult to choose between the Communists and the Phalangists of Franco Spain on the score of bad faith, dishonorable tactics, oppression, brutality and contempt for justice and liberty.

Indeed the scales balanced somewhat on the side of the Franco element. Since that time events have merely proven the soundness of the writer's experience. The behavior of Molotov and Stalin and their puppets in the U. N. assembly represents merely the same old tactics on a larger scale.

The behavior of the American apologists, and in particular of Mr. Wallace, follows out the line of confusion and hypocrisy.

Once I think it might be said that Mr. Wallace belonged to the category of muddled, sloppy and confused thinkers, but three events in his recent career belie this assumption. One was the Madison Square Garden speech in which he led the president of the United States into a position of ridicule before the nation and the world.

The second, was his strange, unethical behavior in the dispute with Mr. Bernard Baruch when he indulged in tactics, under the pressure of extreme Left C. I. O. advisors, that could scarcely be called honorable.

The third was his speech regarding Molotov's proposal for world disarmament in which, quite deliberately, he created the impression that Molotov had nobly proposed world disarmament and that this nation had rejected it. The truth was very different. It was that Molotov proposed world disarmament and that this nation, through its representative Warren Austin, accepted enthusiastically with the added and obviously well-founded amendment that a commission be set up with powers to inspect every nation to make certain that any such international agreement was kept. This bit of plain speaking shut Mr. Molotov's mouth and no word has come out of it since upon that particular bit of hypocrisy.

It is not Mr. Wallace's confusion and ethically dubious tactics nor the childish blustering of Molotov which will save civilization and peace. Rather it is such plain speaking as that of Mr. Austin and Mr. Welles.

The invocation of truth and and clear, logical honest thinking have never caused wars and have on the contrary, prevented much evil.

The best way to encourage confusion, disagreement and finally disaster lies in that combination of obscurantism, hypocrisy, needless and useless compromise, bargaining and skull-duggery that passes for old-fashioned diplomacy.

The issue is all so much more simple than men like Wallace and Molotov and even Mr. Byrnes make it. The relations between nations are essentially no different from the relations between men, for they are little more than the relations between the men who represent nations.

Hitler and Goering and Ribbentrop are not the only men in history who ended by outsmarting themselves. Molotov and Stalin, who seem to be following the Nazi pattern of humbuggery so closely, might well pause and consider. It might be a good idea for them to forget Franco until they clean house in Jugoslavia, in Bulgaria, in Poland; in Rumania and get out the vacuum cleaner in the kremlin itself.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Nov. 17, 1926.

Fear was expressed that reformatory was becoming "another penitentiary," as courts were sending older criminals and "repeaters" here.

It was announced that street car service on East Fourth street line would be abandoned Jan. 1 and bus service substituted.

Fifty Mansfield students were enrolled at Ohio State university.

John Atkins celebrated 81st birthday anniversary at home of his daughter, Mrs. Herman Homberger, 647 Park avenue west.

Harold W. Arlin was speaker at meeting of Marion Traffic club, held at Elks grill in Bucyrus.

Garcia club held meeting at YWCA and elected new officers.

Valuable hunting dog belonging to Roy Herring was killed by careless hunter.

YOU CAN have a white Christmas if you want it. Just call Vincent J. Schaefer. He flew from Schenectady to Greylock mountain in western Massachusetts, Thursday, and dropped a pellet of dry ice into a cloud. The cloud promptly turned to snow. Honest, it did. The Associated Press said so.

* * *

It is predicted that planes can drop dry ice into clouds and make them "snow" before they get to cities. Instead of streets and sidewalk shovelers, all we'll need from now on is a Snow Patrol to fly around the city and precipitate the clouds.

* * *

Now about Christmas. You don't actually have to call Vincent Schaefer. Any flier can do it. All you have to do is arrange to have a cloud over your house on Christmas eve.

Republicans Don't Relish Support By Lewis But Avoid Open Rebuff

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note—This is the second of Drew Pearson's columns on America's most powerful labor leader, John L. Lewis.)

WASHINGTON — All sorts of legend has grown up about the life of John L. Lewis. As a young man he is supposed to have encountered a vicious mine mule named "Spanish Pete" and to have knocked the mule down with one blow of his fist.

Whether this is fact or fiction, it is no legend that when Lewis encountered 250-pound Bill Hutchinson, head of the Carpenters' Union, at an Atlantic City labor convention, he floored him with one blow to the chin. The two men are now bosom pals, nevertheless, and both ardent rooters for the Republican party. Another legend has it that Lewis eats three beefsteaks for breakfast. Lewis does like red meat, and his yammering against the OPA regarding meat was partly personal. However, this writer, who has lunched with Lewis many times, can testify that, regardless of breakfast, he eats only one beefsteak at lunch.

PEARSON

Another myth has it that Lewis does not hesitate to use violence against labor factions which oppose him.

This idea probably arises from the Herrin, Ill., massacre, in which about 400 of Lewis's miners surrounded a handful of steam shovel workers, who were strip-mining with modern methods, and killed them.

Unlike the relatively bloodless jurisdictional strikes of today, the members of the Steam Shovelmen's Union were rounded up in a field and shot in cold blood. A New York Times account of the massacre makes it as gruesome as anything ever perpetrated by the Nazis.

Lewis was blamed for the Herrin massacre because of an inflammatory telegram he sent his Herrin local that they were "justified in treating this crowd (the Steam Shovelmen's Union) as an outlaw organization and in viewing its members in the same light as they would view any other common strikebreakers.'

Lewis and Hope Diamond.

Another Lewis legend is that he dotes on Washington society and loves to be lionized by jewel-encrusted dowagers. This story arose from the fact that Lewis sometimes dines at the home of his great friend, Evalyn Walsh McLean, owner of the Hope diamond and Washington's most inveterate entertainer. In recent years, however, Lewis has dined at the McLean home infrequently and then usually when the dinners are small.

In Alexandria, Va., where he lives, John gets along reasonably well with his neighbors, and those who know him well like him. One exception is Mrs. Fleming Holland, who objected vigorously at showing her colonial mansion if Lewis's was also to be on the annual tour of old Alexandria homes. This put Virginia citizens very much on the spot, because the Lewis home, originally occupied by Dr. William Brown, physician-general to the Continental army, was a landmark not to be ignored.

Later Lewis sold his home, but bought an even more historic mansion where Light-Horse Harry Lee made his famous oration at the death of George Washington. So in the end, Mrs. Holland got the citizens of Alexandria off the spot by withdrawing her house from the tour, leaving John L. Lewis victorious.

GOP's Foundling Child.

The Republican party has now begun to realize that it is on somewhat the same spot as the good citizens of Alexandria. They don't particularly love John L. Lewis, but also they don't want to snub him—especially if they can let the Democrats do it instead.

Various Republican stalwarts already have honeyed up to John L., with Robert Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, describing him as a "great American" even in the middle of the last coal crisis.

All this is one reason why the Republicans have been so fervently hoping that the current coal crisis will be settled by the Democrats, so they themselves won't have to wrestle with Big John.

Friends say that John L. himself also had this in mind when he called for a showdown now. He knows that after January the new GOP congress will crack him with something even more drastic than the Case Bill—if he dares stick his chin out.

Republicans also know that John L. Lewis, despite his power in labor ranks, is not the type of gardenia they want to sport in their buttonholes when they walk down the Main Street of America.

They know that the American public, despite its short memory, has not entirely forgotten how John L. Lewis was the only important labor leader to strike against his government in wartime.

Lewis's first real strike against the war effort came in the autumn of 1941 shortly before Pearl Harbor, when the nation was desperately preparing itself for what every intelligent person knew was certain battle.

Lewis Aided Germany.

That, however, did not seem to worry John L. Lewis. It has now been disclosed by the Rogge report that during 1940 Lewis used his influence with Mexican leaders to arrange for the sale of vitally needed oil to the German navy.

Hitler at that time had swept over part of Europe and President Roosevelt was doing his best to discourage shipments of oil to Germany. Despite that, Lewis not only used his influence to obtain oil for Nazi submarines, but, according to the Rogge report, also discussed with a member of the German economic ministry a plan to swing labor votes against Roosevelt during the 1940 election.

Indirectly at least, Lewis gave further help to the Nazi cause when, in the fall of 1941, he pulled 53,000 miners out of the captive coal mines causing 200,000 others to strike in sympathy. The captive coal mines supplied fuel for the nation's steel industry, at that time working day and night to turn out big guns and armor plate.

Lewis, however, did not send his men back to work until Dec. 7, the day the Japs struck Pearl Harbor. Even then, Lewis held out until he got what he wanted —a closed shop—by arbitration.

On that fateful day Lewis was closeted with his friend, John Steelman, then a federal conciliator, and Ben Fairless, head of U. S. Steel. Newsmen had been waiting eagerly for word of a settlement. Finally at 7 p. m. on Dec. 7, John L. strode to the door to announce the strike's end.

Confidently swinging the door open, he called: "Come in, boys."

But no one came in. For once, John L. Lewis's news value had evaporated. The press corps had deserted him for an even greater disaster—Pearl Harbor.

Ups and Downs of Harry Truman Reviewed.

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Note to contemporary historians: If you're busy writing volumes for posterity about current events and leading characters, you better have the printers hold up that chapter on Harry S. Truman for a little while.

Mr. Truman's role in this riotous era hasn't quite been settled yet.

For a mild-mannered man who seemed moulded to become the stooge for many a smart quip and sophisticated gag, the man whom death and the people made president seems to have an uncanny knack of staging comebacks in the realm of public opinion.

Right now, such a revival of popular sympathy is in progress.

A look at the record of nationwide reaction might not be lost motion at the moment.

When Harry Truman came to Washington, he was considered a pleasant, rather personable product of the Pendergast machine. It is scarcely exaggeration to say that he was seldom, if ever, taken seriously as a statesman.

But gradually that attitude began to undergo a definite change. Senator Truman often became the man President Roosevelt called upon to help heal a breach in Democratic ranks on Capitol Hill.

Perhaps the little man behind the big glasses was not a dominant personality or a dominant leader, but he gained the sometimes grudging respect of more colorful party leaders—many of whom suddenly are remembering his arbitrative ability today.

He caught the general public's fancy when he headed the spectacular senate war investigating committee which subsequently came to bear his name.

Some of the popularity gained in that regard was lost when he was nominated Democratic vice-presidential candidate — for there was always a certain amount of doubt as to where Harry Truman stood, and besides it was generally believed that he didn't want the job.

But he got it, and when some said he wasn't taking it seriously, at least some public confidence in him obviously waned.

Then Franklin D. Roosevelt died and Truman became Mr. Truman, the president of the United States.

Openly and admittedly, he stood in awe of his huge responsibility. He asked help from God and the people. Somehow, in that moment, no one seemed to question his sincerity.

Whatever the reason, he momentarily had the mass backing of the majority of the American people.

A year went by, a troubled postwar year, during which President Truman somehow seemed incapable of coping with the problems deftly enough to please the public.

He became, first, the object of gentle jesting ("I'm just mild about Harry"); second, the subject of sharper sayings ("Don't shoot the piano player—he's doing the best he can"); third, finally the target of bitter barbs ("To err is Truman").

At one point, angry demonstrating labor groups carried placards saying: "You Can't Make a Statesman Out of a Shoe Clerk!"

The campaign and election left little doubt that presidential popularity was at a low ebb. At the very least, the Republican landslide could hardly be termed a vote of confidence.

Then something happened. During the past weekend, this correspondent visited up through New England, hardly a current Democratic stronghold. There, even people who admittedly voted against his administration expressed a strange sort of sympathy for the president's predicament — faced with a politically hostile house and senate in this confused domestic and foreign crisis.

And when the president made his post-election statement, it was generally conceded that his foot was not in his mouth as he concluded:

"I shall co-operate in every proper manner with members of the congress, and my hope and prayer is that this spirit of co-operation will be reciprocated.

"To them, one and all, I pledge faith with faith, and promise to meet good will with good will."

Everywhere I went, people liked that statement. Even cynical capital cartoonists abandoned ridicule in favor of respect, at least for the moment.

All of this may mean nothing a month from now. A few major mistakes can shift sympathy the other way again.

But in the meantime, I wouldn't close the Truman chapter yet.

Let the Children Learn About God.

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I AM no reformer. No educator either. I would be a flop in any school.

Yet I do think there's a great lack in our plan of education—a lack that is bringing disaster to thousands of young lives.

That lack is God.

You're wrong. I'm not advocating religious courses in our schools. I know too well how impossible that would be. But I do believe the modern youngster should have at least as much of a break as we had 50 years ago—as much of a chance to see the glory and wonder of God.

I wouldn't suggest anything connected with dogma or a certain creed, but I wish we could have a committee of good and wise men—priest, pastor and rabbi—who would compile the great utterances of the Bible.

Things like the 23rd Psalm . . . the outstanding legends which are the foundation of all history . . . the Sermon on the Mount.

These things are not necessarily religious in nature but they are immortal literature. You haven't even a beginning of an education unless you know the story of King David or Isaiah or John the Baptist or Christ.

These men lived and they said things. They uttered words of everlasting beauty and the average youngster today can hardly tell who they were or what they did.

It's an outstanding shame that we who are theoretically a Christian nation should rear our children in such ignorance.

The Bible was a familiar book when you and I were young. We knew its history as we know English history today. We heard constant references to it—not merely in Sunday school but in daily conversation. It was a living part of our culture. It was as necessary educationally as Shakespeare. We would have looked at anyone in amazement who did not know the great characters or passages of the Bible.

Yet there is hardly a public school in America today that devotes even one half hour daily to such instruction.

I think if I could have but one wish in this world it would be that—that young America be given a chance to meet God and discover the comfort and wisdom and inspiration within His ancient book.

Kindness To Children.

An appeal has been made by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney to American troops stationed in Germany "to show a Christmas spirit by being especially kind and generous to those less fortunate, and especially to the children."

Children around the world have been fed upon American chocolate bars, candy and chewing gum lavished upon them by the G. I.'s. The three words, chocolate, candy and chewing gum—yea four, cigarets—stand high in the lexicon of universal languages.

Dave Boone Says:

WELL, the 1946 award of the Nobel prize for peace must be a little embarrassing to the Big Four and everybody else associated with the United Nations setup. All the top workers for world peace, the men officially named to attain it, are with U. N., and the committee had to go outside to find two people worthy of the prize.

* * *

Dr. John R. Mott, famous evangelist, and Emily Greene Balch, honorary president of the Women's League for International Peace, will share the prize, and they had never been close enough to a U. N. meeting to get into the fight pictures.

* * *

I guess the evangelists and the women folks shape up as a better aid to peace than all the diplomats and statesmen.

Miss Balch served as a nurse in the first World war and was so moved by the sufferings that she became a pacifist and was denounced, harassed, and dismissed from Wellesley. But the years justified her. Wellesley reinstated her and now she is signally honored.

It's good to see something like that happen in these days to prove that the snap-judgment critics of any period can be wrong.

Walter White Goes to Russian Party, Finds Glamour and Fear

By WALTER WHITE

Because American Communists have frequently attacked me for criticisms of their activities and of certain phases of Russian policy it was a surprise to receive an elaborately engraved invitation from Ambassador and Mme. Novikov to attend a reception at the embassy celebrating the 29th anniversary of the October revolution. I went.

Visions of quantities of fresh Beluga caviar nesting in huge cakes of ice went unfulfilled. But otherwise the event lived up to all the stories of the opulence of Russian parties which make invitations to them the most eagerly sought after of all the Washington embassies.

WHITE

Gold lame gowns, sables and minks, hats and dresses by the most expensive couturiers were challenged in their glitter by the uniforms and decorations of army and navy officers of a score or more nations. But the enormous crowd variously estimated by newspaper reporters from 1,500 to 3,000 was significantly made up not only of the fancily dressed and famous. There were many there who may be famous too but looked as though their fame is in the future. They were simply and inexpensively dressed. However, I wouldn't really know. The very charming wife of a Balkan official pointed out for me a number of celebrities at whom neither you nor I would take a second look if we should meet them on the street.

Although the caviar was missing it would be hard to think of any other item of party food or drink omitted from the several long and groaning boards. The freeloaders had a field day on lobster, turkey, ham, aspics, piroshki, salads, cheeses, sandwiches and everything else necessary to make the most magnificent zakuska it has ever been my opportunity to see. Ambassadors, society, military and writers forgot political ideologies and everything else in their concentration on the food.

I brought away with me, however, two impressions unrelated to the abundance and richness of the food or the distinction of the guests. The first was an atmosphere, so far as certain of the guests were concerned, which seemed incongruous in outwardly placid Washington. I was talking with the representative of a small European country about the possibility of a federation of Balkan states which might give them strength to resist being swallowed up or dominated by either Russia or a potential Anglo-American-German bloc.

Fear Russia.

In delightfully broken English he poured out the advantages of such a union and told me how fearful his compatriots were of Russia. Suddenly he fell silent and almost literally dragged me away from three men who had mysteriously taken a position in front of us.

The episode was repeated twice in other parts of the huge room and once more in the foyer where the receiving line stood. Finally I asked him why he was so afraid.

He lowered his voice and whispered, "It's the Russians! They're everywhere." I had no means of checking on whether the diplomat's fears had any basis in fact or were the product of the abnormal political psychology of war-torn Europe. But that his apprehension of being overheard was painfully genuine, there could be no doubt.

Once again I felt the presence of unnamed fears which I had experienced in Cairo in early 1944 as the Palestinian and Grecian situations bubbled and boiled ever more dangerously. And once again I sensed one of the reasons for American naivete in her foreign relations—because we who live in the United States have been so far removed from the tensions and fears which are the daily fare of those who live in Europe, we seem to doubt their existence. The only parallel in the United States is the insecurity of Negroes in communities dominated by organizations like the Klan.

The second impression brought away from the Embassy was the number of Negroes present. Even in the national capitol where the color line is almost as rigid as in Mississippi from which state Washington's mayor in the person of Bilbo came (until the November 5th election), the Russians dare to ignore prejudice.

As I watched the colored guests mingle easily with the other guests without any outward manifestations of strangeness even from some Southerners, I could not help but remember ruefully nearby Constitution Hall whose use the Daughters of another revolution deny to great artists like Marian Anderson. Or the Lisner Auditorium, made possible by a Jewish philanthropist as a gift to George Washington university from which Negroes are barred both as artists and patrons solely because of their color.

The inviting of Negro Americans may portend and probably does mean that the new Soviet policy so far as the United States is concerned is to concentrate on the wide gap between what the democracies say they mean when they talk about freedom and what they do in certain cases. I think of Isaac Woodard, blinded by a South Carolina chief of police three hours after Woodard had been honorably discharged from the army, and followed by the prompt acquittal of the police chief.

During recent months at least four Communist or fellow-travelling organizations have made vigorous efforts to enlist Negro support by capitalizing on the current wave of lynchings, such cases as Woodard's and the activities of outfits like the Columbians and the Ku Klux Klan. Other efforts have been made by Communists to infiltrate established Negro or interracial organizations interested in fighting prejudice.

To date most of these efforts have met with little success. But the practicing by Russia of the abolition of color prejudice while "democracies" continue lynching and imperialism and segregation may have far greater effect on the darker peoples of the world than a lot of Americans now realize.

When is the capitalistic white world going to wake up?

Wine Analyzed After Two Die

RIPLEY—(AP)—Sample wine believed to have caused the death of two Ripley men and the critical illness of a third was undergoing analysis in Cincinnati today, Brown County Coroner George P. Tyler reported.

James Gorman, 37, and James Moore, 35, died in convulsions Friday after drinking the wine, and John Adams, 24, was taken to Maysville, Ky., hospital.

BRITISH SOFTEN VETO PLAN BEFORE BIG 5

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—Individual members of the Big Five studied today a British plan aimed at softening the use of the veto in the United Nations security council after smashing small nation efforts to eliminate or modify the veto power.

The plan was submitted to the major powers by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin as a basis for Big Five consultations on the veto which authoritative sources said probably would begin Monday.

As a result of agreement among the Big Five last night to hold consultations, France was expected to propose today that the general assembly's 51-nation political and security committee suspend the hot veto debate while the Big Five meet to try to agree on a formula that will satisfy their opponents.

Ohio Asks $29,554 In State Park Fire

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The U. S. district court here received from Warren county common pleas court the suit of the State of Ohio against the Pennsylvania railroad asking $29,554 damages for fire destruction at Fort Ancient state park. The state charges fires that destroyed 37 acres of trees and shrubs at the park spread from the railroad's right-of-way.

Mansfielders Divided On Auditorium Query

Question Do you think Mansfield, like some other cities its size, should have a civic auditorium where good music, drama, and other cultural benefits could be offered at reasonable prices and which might also be usable for indoor sports such as basketball and skating?

(Conducted this week by News-Journal Photographer-Reporter Art Anderson, roaming downtown streets.)

J. J. GUENTHER, 290 South Diamond street: "No. I think we should pay for what we have already voted for before we start something else. The Clear Fork project, recreation levy, teachers pay levy, and the $2,100,000 school building bonds represent a pretty good bite at one time, without starting something else."

Guenther

MRS. HARRY HOUCK, 242 Ruth avenue: "Yes, I think the city is large enough to support an auditorium. Whenever there is any event that draws a large crowd, it has to be taken to the school, because there isn't any place else for it."

Mrs. Houck

Georgopulos

JAMES GEORGOPULOS, Parkway restaurant: "Yes, if someone qualified was selected to manage it and if council set up rules governing its use and made people abide by them. Mansfield is a coming town and we need something like that."

MRS. J. W. SCARBOROUGH, 114 Park avenue west: "Absolutely, yes. Mansfield is almost a city now and we should have an auditorium. It would be a good thing for the young people as well as older people. I think it should be on the 'must' list for the future."

Scarborough

DR. W. P. MECKLEM, 29 North Mulberry street; "Yes, I think we should have one."

Mrs. Damlos

MRS W F DAMLOS, 283 Lexington avenue "Yes, I think we should have an auditorium Mansfield is growing and expanding and I think that there are a lot of things that could be done for the people The auditorium as described is one of them.

E L SCHONAUER, Fairfax avenue "No, I don't think we should build an auditorium People are spending too much time seeking amusement in this world and are forgetting God If they would spend more time worshiping the Lord they would have a better world in which to live and more pleasure in the end"

TRUCK DRIVERS' PAY INCREASED

A 15-cent-an-hour wage increase to over-the-road truck drivers, including approximately 100 from Mansfield, was announced last night by J. L. Stover, president and business agent of the AFL Teamsters' Local No. 40.

He said the agreement was signed Friday night in Columbus between the Ohio Highway Drivers' council and the Ohio Trucking Employers association.

The agreement, reached after two weeks of negotiations, was signed a few hours before expiration of the previous contract. No dispute was involved in the negotiations, Stover said, and it marked the tenth year without a strike by the drivers' council.

More than 7,000 truck drivers in Ohio are affected by the wage increase. Four classifications of drivers receive the hike, including "peddle run" drivers and drivers of single, tandem and double axle trucks.

Plane Slips Off Runway, Mires In Mud

A big army C-47 plane that rolled off the paving on the northwest runway at Mansfield airport was grounded for an hour while airport attendants dug it out of the mud.

The twin-engine ship, weighing 25,200 pounds, mired quickly when one wheel dropped off the runway.

Attendants dug in front of the mired wheel and put down planks for it to roll on just as they would have freed a mired car.

With flaps down and full power on the big ship rolled thunderously back onto the pavement.

The ship had landed to load supplies from the Shelby Air depot, attendants said

SOVIET CONCESSION HEARTENS COUNCIL

NEW YORK—(AP)—A solid concession by Russia heartened yesterday the hopes of the four-power council of foreign ministers for an early end to its long deadlock over the long-range control of strategic Trieste.

For the fifth time at this session, the diplomatic chiefs of Russia, Britain, France and the United States focused their attention on the problem of the ancient Adriatic port in anticipation that an aswer would pave the way for a peace pact for Italy

The crux of the dispute still remained Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's demand for curtailment of the powers of the governor who would serve under the guidance of the United Nations security council.

PRIVATE PACT ON VETO SOUGHT

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—The Big Five powers last night were ready to take the bitter battle over the veto out of the hands of the United Nations assembly and try for private agreement on some sort of modifications after presenting a solid front against changing the charter.

Following up a British call for consultations among the major countries next Monday, France asked the general assembly's 51-nation political committee to suspend the debate that has brought the special voting right under continuous barrage from the small nations.

British sources said the Monday meeting would go on regardless of the disposition of the French proposal and declared assurances to attend had been received from all principals, including Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

In advancing his plan to close the debate, French Delegate Alexandre Parodi lined up with the other big powers in opposing any revision of the charter but called for improvement of the procedure of voting in the security council.

Now all of the five major powers except Russia have taken the position that the council itself should limit the use of the veto to rare and exceptional cases

The Soviet Union has not indicated its willingness to approve even modifications and clarifications, but Molotav's acceptance of an invitation to confer raised hopes that an eventual agreement might be reached to satisfy all the 51 nations.

Greer Garson Hopes Next Films Will Be Comedies, Not Dramas

HOME WORK—On the lawn of her Bel Air home Greer Garson checks up on dialog for next movie.

* * *

By VICTOR GUNSON
(Central Press Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD—Greer Garson, one of the screen's queens of drama, wants to turn comedienne for a change, but she confessed today it is going to be a little more difficult than she had anticipated.

At best, it'll be spring before she can start in a picture designed to give the world as many chuckles as possible.

Said the red-headed Academy Award winner:

"I am very anxious to do a good comedy, but finding a good comedy isn't as easy as I thought.

"I was quite certain I had found the right story, but after giving it close consideration I decided it was not right for me at all.

"It was the kind of a story which was a little too tight for me under the arms."

Greer right now is winding up "A Woman of My Own," which started all the way back last March. There was a delay in the picture when Robert Montgomery withdrew from the cast, feeling the part unsuitable for him, and Broadway Actor Richard Hartz was substituted in his place.

Greer said:

"I have been promised a three-month vacation, and maybe in that time the right story will turn up.

"I have felt for a long time that more humor is needed in the world. I want my next two pictures, at least, to be comedies.

"With all the trouble there is in the world, I think the public wants to see more comedies. I think when people leave a theater they should have a sense of exhilaration, rather than feel depressed.

"I know I want to get away from some of the heavy material I have been playing. Instead of drab clothes, I'd like to wear some fashionable gowns.

"Instead of the drab surroundings in which you generally find me, I'd like to come down a winding staircase into a room of beautifully-attired people.

"Yes, I'd really enjoy that."

This correspondent told Greer he would like it and he thought the public would, too.

She laughed and said. "Well, maybe you'll have to write the story for me."

Greer said she had made no definite plans for her longest vacation in many months, but said she might go away for a while.

Miss Garson and her husband, Actor Richard Nye, have a place at Carmel, at California's beautiful Monterrey peninsula.

Greer wasn't sure whether they would go there for a time.

"Mostly I want to get a good rest," she said. "I have been working for so many months now."

Greer gave her first performance at the age of four in a town hall in her native Ireland. She studied to be a teacher, but went on the English stage instead.

Miss Garson was "discovered" by Louis B. Mayer while playing on the London stage in "Old Music." She came to Hollywood immediately after signing a contract, but studio officials were so anxious to get the right part for her American screen debut that she sat around for almost a year doing nothing. It almost discouraged her completely with Hollywood.

However, a week before her contract expired, she was assigned to play with Robert Donat in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips"—in England. She was an overnight sensation after the picture was released.

Greer won the top Academy Award for "Mrs. Minniver" in 1942. She was also nominated for the top honor in "Random Harvest."

Greer's friends are betting she could cop an "Oscar" as a commedienne, too

MEET THURSDAY ON LAKE PLANS

A meeting to discuss construction progress and future plans for the city's Clear Fork reservoir project will be held Tuesday, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said yesterday.

He described the session as one of a series of meetings to keep officials informed about progress of the water supply program.

Up for discussion will probably be proposed preliminary plans and site for the purification plant, pumping station and pipeline for the project now that dam construction is underway.

Scheduled to attend, in addition to Vaughn, are city council's special water committee, headed by Councilman James R. Anderson, Engineers Harry Smith and W. C. Statler, a representative of the Jennings-Lawrence company, project engineers, Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow, and Water Supt. O. C. Kalbfleisch.

Meeting is to be held at 10 a. m. in the mayor's office.

Three Sons See Dad Kill Brother, 33

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Alva Carter, 33, was shot fatally early today during a family quarrel at suburban St. Bernard and Detective Sgt. John Donnelly said the man's father, 62-year-old Wilbur Carter, was being held on a charge of murder. Donnelly said the father had signed a statement that he acted in self-defense.

Mrs. Malinda Carter, 52, the victim's mother, and her three younger sons witnessed the shooting at a beer party, Donnelly said.

No Matter What the Difficulty, City Welfare Agencies Have Answer

SHORTAGE OF HOUSING AMONG PROBLEMS MET

Volunteer of America Take In Family Following Eviction.

By ITA BRANSON

There was no place for the Brown family (of course that isn't the name) to go!

Ordered out of the building where the parents and six children had been existing—no one could possibly call it adequate living—the father was faced with the necessity of getting other living quarters for his family. In normal times that would be a problem for a family of eight. In times like these, when houses are as scarce, getting a house is virtually impossible.

Perhaps the whole thing wouldn't have seemed so discouraging or insurmountable to Brown if he had been well. But added to his own poor health was the cost of the new baby, the present inadequacy of his wife to care for the children, and mounting cost of feeding eight hungry mouths. The situation for a time seemed hopeless.

How would you go about solving a situation like that? If your landlord had sold your only home out from under you and the new owner wanted the building for a dance hall, what WOULD you do?

Brown did the only thing at hand. He appealed to the Humane Society.

That group, under the direction of Mrs. Mae Menchan, got busy on the Browns. A court order was obtained allowing a stay of eviction and Mrs. Menchan, together with Mrs. Katherine McMichael, head of Aid for Dependent Children, began looking around.

About this time is where the Volunteer of America come into the picture. They had a workroom. Could it be made available for temporary quarters for the Browns? It could, said Adjutant R. L. Gutterman.

So all the paraphernalia stored in the workroom was taken out. It was cleaned and made livable. A heating stove and two cots were placed in it for present needs.

Furniture? The Browns had none. The building they had used for a home had been partly and poorly furnished. There was nothing except what the Volunteers could scrape together. But at least the Browns are warm and they are being fed.

In the meantime, the 14 year old girl has been sent to Akron to a girls' training school where she will be given the opportunity to learn enough to eventually make her own living. The Humane Society turned the solution of the smaller children, who by the way, are step-children, over to the Child Welfare Board, under the direction of Mrs. Harry Downs and Mrs. Laura Reese. Efforts are being made to place the four other small children in suitable homes.

FEED THE HUNGRY. One of the most important parts of the work of the Volunteers of America is that of feeding hungry families and transients. Above a posed group shows how it is done in the kitchen at the organization headquarters.

Pays Expenses.

Now here's an interesting part of the whole story. Not only did the Volunteers of America find a room as temporary quarters, but the organization is paying half of the expenses for sending the 14 year old to the Akron school. The other half is being paid by an individual who doesn't wish to reveal his name.

Since the Browns are not a Richland county family but natives of Logan county, Mrs. Menchan and the Child Welfare Board is attempting to get Logan to pay expenses incidental to keeping the four younger children. The father has a job. Sending the whole group back to Logan would not solve a problem; it would only add to the difficulty.

So with their usual interest in doing the very best that could be done, the Humane Society, the Volunteers, and the Child Welfare Board have assumed responsibility for solving the Brown situation as kindly and as well as they can.

This emergency aid for the Browns is only typical of what the Volunteers are doing every day throughout the year.

Not always is the situation as drastic as this one. It may be only the matter of a square meal or an overnight room for a transient family. It may be only a matter of suitable clothing, so that "small fry" can go to school.

It isn't all charity, either. Folks have their pride, you know and the Volunteers recognize that. That's one reason back of their store. This store at 286 North Main street, contains all sorts of garments for sale. One may buy a dress, for instance, for 20 cents or a pair of shoes for a like sume. In fact a mother may outfit her entire family for an incredibly small sum. But SHE DOES PAY FOR IT! Not much, it is true, but something. Enough to pad a little her family pride!

This store is non-profit. It would be, naturally, with such price tags.

Or again, some family may, by the grace of the gods, find a home. But there is no furniture. Again the Volunteers step in and presently one of their trucks draws up to the house and unloads furniture enough so that the family can get along. Oh, it isn't the latest upholstered item but it's furniture—something to sit on and sleep in and eat on!

During the coal crisis in the spring of 1945, this organization aided the Chamber of Commerce in delivering 19 tons of coal to homes where small children and babies had no fire to keep them warm.

At Christmas, the Volunteers give out baskets to families who can't quite make the grade of a holiday dinner. Last year there were 80 of these baskets.

Daily the organization is called on to help some family or person whose problem seems, because of ill health, too many children, or lack of a job, insurmountable.

"Giving a father a lift, a mother extra food, a child something to keep him warm," Adjt. Gutterman said, "may be only one of the things we do during a day but to those helped it may mean more than routine giving. It may mean the difference between giving up and a little push forward that will enable a family to get back on its feet and stay there."

Herbert Indicates He'll Adhere to Party Responsibility Principle

OHIO TO RETURN TO GOVERNMENT ON PARTY BASIS

Governor-Elect Expected to Follow Recommendations of GOP

By H. H. DAUGHERTY

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio apparently is about to return to party government.

Thomas J. Herbert, Republican governor-elect, is giving all the indications that he expects to be a strictly party man adhering to the proposition of party responsibility.

Instead of renting a hotel room and conferring with select personal friends and office seekers on the matter of patronage, Herbert has taken an office at Republican state headquarters from where he expects to name his cabinet and key positions in his administration.

At Republican headquarters he will be on continuous consultation with State Chairman Fred Johnson and other high ranking Republican leaders and his selections are expected to have the approval of the state organization.

Herbert also will follow recommendations of the county organizations in so far as possible on appointments in the various counties.

This does not mean, friends of the governor-elect say, that Herbert will follow blindly the recommendations of county organizations. They say the county selections must meet his personal approval. But it is anticipated he will follow in general the recommendations of his party organizations.

In legislative matters the new governor will have a state legislature overwhelmingly Republican and he has promised to co-operate whole-heartedly with the lawmakers in working out a legislative program in conformity with the party's platform declarations and pledges.

In such a working set-up the new governor will be responsible to the party for all his acts and the party will be responsible to the voters thus carrying out the proposition of party responsibility.

Such an arrangement will be in sharp contrast to the administration of incumbent Democrat Governor Frank J. Lausche who at the outset assumed sole responsibility for administering the state's affairs, even to the extent of spurning the advice of his party leaders.

Governor Lausche paid little attention to the counsel of his party organizations or their leaders. In fact in most instances a recommendation by a county organization was equivalent to waving a red flag in front of a bull. He not only played a lone hand, but he forbade his key office holders to deal with the party organizations.

Reports that Senate Majority Leader Frank E. Whittemore of Akron may run into opposition for re-election to the position in the organization of the new senate next January are being completely discounted in capitol Republican circles.

The accepted version is that Whittemore can have the position again without the slightest opposition if he wants it, and he has given no indication that he will not again seek the office—officially designated as president pro tem of the senate.

But should Whittemore decline the position then the field would be wide open with Senators E. E. Addison of Franklin county and Fred G. Reiners of Hamilton county possibly the leading contenders. Addison, it is pointed out, may be handicapped by reason of the fact that Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, who normally presides over the senate, is also from Franklin county.

Generally members of the legislative bodies are opposed to centering so much power and responsibility in members from the same county. They generally insist on dividing the honors.

THE chief spadework and steering of national legislation through Congress is done by committees. They decide what measures will ever reach the floor for a vote, and the board chairman often has the deciding say between approval, rejection or pigeon-holing. These are the Republican representatives, who by virtue of seniority membership on key committees are in line to take over direction when the 80th Congress organizes under G. O. P. direction for the first time in many years. Altogether there are at present 48 standing House committees but the new Congress may revamp the setup, combining some. The state each represents, years in Congress and probable chairmanship are shown under photographs.

AP Newsfeatures

THESE are GOP veterans who by virtue of senority in committee are in line to take over chairmanship of headline committees in the 80th Congress—thereby having a decisive say on what legislation will be taken up on the floor for action. Their states, number of year's service in the Senate and probable committee chairmanships are shown. Should the new Congress go along with earlier streamlining plans, there would be telescoping of some committees. Several of the senators shown have seniority on more than one committee but Capitol Hill observers believe that the committee shown under each name is the one each man will prefer to direct if existing procedure continues.

Mansfield High School Students Look Back On Successful Football Season for 1946

By DAVID BARNHILL

FOOTBALL SEASON ENDS

The students of Mansfield high school now look back upon a successful football season. Having won seven games of the ten scheduled, and having tied two teams, Mansfield's 1946 gridiron aggregation has a record which Mansfielders can be proud of.

The season's results were: Mansfield 33, Marion 13; Mansfield 7, Cleveland East 6; Mansfield 55, Sandusky 2; Mansfield 14, Portsmouth 7; Mansfield 33, Springfield 0; Mansfield 12, Massillon 12; Mansfield 6, Canton Timken 6; Mansfield 7, Toledo Waite 32; Mansfield 24, Youngstown Rayen, 19; Mansfield 32, Martins Ferry 14.

Because of Mansfield high school's outstanding pigskin performance this fall, the students are eagerly looking forward to playing even stiffer competition a year from now. There is a possibility that several out-of-state teams will be engaged for the schedule.

The new football stadium located on the corner of U. S. Route 30-N and Trimble road is expected to be ready by next September. In the past few week's the speed of construction has been considerably increased. The capacity of the stadium is expected to exed 12,000 persons.

SENIORS GET CLASS JEWELRY

After many weeks of waiting, the Seniors were thrilled at the arrival of their class jewelry last week. The jewelry consists of rings, bearing the Mansfield high school crest and initials of the purchaser, and pins with chains.

FINANCE PLAN ADVOCATED

Earl Heasley, director of dramatics at Mansfield Senior high, has devised a plan whereby seniors can earn money for class dues. He will give 100 dollars to the senior class treasury if each member of the senior class sells three adult tickets to "Spring Daze", the class play which will be presented Nov. 21 and 22.

By this method the seniors will not only be benefited financially but they will also help to increase the attendance and to publicize the play.

1946 BASKETBALL TEAM

Now that football days are over sportsminded students direct their attention to the "hardwods" and the high school basketball squads. Mansfielders, as usual, anticipate a season with many games of exciting basketball.

In the past few weeks the probable starters on the Mansfield court have become more evident. Although nothing is definite about the initial five at the present time, these men will probably see plenty of action—Tom Bloor, Ralph Majors and Jerry Rohfogel at forward; Charles Sisco at center post; Ollie Cline, Phil Pittinger and Nick Gagich at guard. Cline, Majors and Sisco had considerable experience last year.

The annual basketball clinic will be held Dec. 2. Coach Vern Hoffman will be in charge. At the clinic the 1946 team will play the alumni team.

HORVATH RETURNS

Kenneth Horvath, star fullback on the Mansfield eleven, who was forced out of football for the last four games because of a fractured leg, has returned to classes. Horvath was injured during a practice session in the week following the Massillon game. He has been absent from school for three weeks and unfortunately had to spend some time in the hospital.

BOY STATERS

The boys who attended the 1946 Buckeye Boys' State at Miami university this summer will meet with the American Legion Wednesday, Nov. 20 and will report their experiences. They will tell about the work, recreation, American Legion program, and other things connected with Boys' State.

Boys from Mansfield high school who attended the 1946 conference were John Bishop, Robert Schrack, William Werner, William McKee, David Barnhill, Thomas Bloor, Richard Flockenzier and Eugene Busch.

Although there was no Buckeye Boys' State in 1945 because of transportation difficulties and other conditions resulting from the war, it is an annual event. The purpose of the Buckeye Boys' State is to enable a group of juniors whom the Legion feels are representative of the high schools throughout the state to understand better the fundamental principles underlying democracy and our system of government. The American Legion hopes the boys selected will influence their fellow students and help spread the understanding and meaning of democracy.

Buckeye Boys' State is a part of the national program of the American Legion which has Boys' States in many other states throughout the nation.

500 Kiddies Get Acquainted With Library In Book Week

More than 500 Mansfield school children from the first through the sixth grades became acquainted with the Public library last week in a city-wide observance of National Book week, according to Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian.

Two classes from the Woodland school which were unable to get in last week are scheduled to visit the library next Tuesday afternoon.

Learning of the books available there and how to use the library was a new and thrilling accomplishment for many of the younger children, Miss Leonard reported.

"Since I learned to use the library, I love to come here," one sprightly little nine-year-old told Miss Leonard.

Beginning Monday, the 75 to 100 new books that were on display for the children during National Book week, will be included in the list available for checking out of the building, she said.

Besides explaining how to use the library, Miss Leonard also told stories to the visiting classes.

Miss Leonard announced that the Saturday morning story hours are continuing and there is room for many more children. The hour is 10 a. m.

SOLDIER GIVEN MILITARY RITES

Scores of friends and relatives of Pfc. Harry M. Baker, Mansfield's first Gold Star soldier to be returned from overseas for burial in his home town, gathered to pay a last tribute at his funeral services yesterday afternoon.

The 30-year-old husband of Mrs. Catherine F. Baker was laid to rest in Mansfield cemetery after the completion of full military rites in charge of the McVey Post, American Legion.

Speaking the formal tribute was Lewis Bachrach, Legion chaplain. The pallbearers were Legionnaires as were the eight members of the rifle squad which fired a salute over the grave. Taps were sounded.

Pfc. Baker died last Aug. 5 on Okinawa from injuries received in a vehicle accident. He had been on the island for two months. He had served in the army since March 15, 1945.

County Employs TB Clinic Nurse

County commissioners yesterday hired Mrs. Mary H. Bishop, Bucyrus, as a clinic nurse for the Richland county tuberculosis sanatorium. She is now employed by the Kiowa hospital in Lawton, Okla.

She was hired at the recommendation of Dr. Oren A. Beatty, medical director of the sanatorium, effective Dec. 1. Her starting salary of $175 per month is to be increased $10 per month after she has been with the sanatorium for three months, the commissioners said.

Illness Fatal To Mrs. Harry Pence

ASHLAND—Mrs. Harry Pence, 44, 619 Jefferson street, died Saturday morning in Samaritan hospital after two weeks illness. In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sons and one daughter by a former marriage, Donald Eugene McKinley of San Diego, Cal., Wayne McKinley and Lucille McKinley, at home.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Gilbert funeral home, conducted by Rev. Chas. S. Applegate. Burial will be in the Loudonville cemetery.

Andrew McBride, veteran and gas station owner, personally handles a grease job, one of the many services his station renders.

Ex-Service Man Now Offers 'Service' of Different Kind

"We do anything pertaining to automobile service," was the answer given to the question, "What do you do besides fill 'em up," by Andrew McBride, this week's veteran in business for himself.

Proprietor of a Marathon Filling station at 247 Park avenue east, McBride opened for business in January of this year, shortly after his discharge from the Navy after three years of service.

"I saw service from Saipan to Tokyo," McBride, who was busy working on a grease job said.

"I was born in Youngstown and came to Mansfield in 1930," he continued. "I worked at Westinghouse here until the war broke out, and then went to the Willow Run bomber plant for a while before going into the Navy."

Explaining how he happened to open his own station, McBride said, "I used to work in stations on and off before the war. I started doing it again after the war and got the idea of being in for myself. Well, here I am, and as you can see, busy as a one armed paper hanger."

McBride lives with his wife and child at 149 Mendota street. He is a member of the McVey Post of the American Legion.

MANSFIELD ALBUM. This album picture should be an easy one for most old-timers, especially if they were meat lovers in the old days. Last week's album shot was identified by a few Mansfielders. It was a "steel boat," built on a truck by the Empire Steel corporation. It was used to help sell bonds during the first World War. Those who correctly identified it were: W. W. Leach, 123 Glenwood, who helped design the "boat"; Mrs. Violet Zehner, 155 Penn avenue, whose husband, now deceased, drove the truck, and Mrs. George Kreischer, 192 Rowland avenue.

Residents Get 'Bargain' Ash Service From City Till Feb. 1

Mansfielders today were taking advantage of what may prove to be one of the last items to withstand the price-rise trend — the city's garbage-ash collection service.

It's destined to go up in price, too, early next year. After 26 years, during which it successfully stood off the economic gyrations of a depression and a war, the service is finally to bow to the pressures of bounding prices.

But today, some 6,800 residents are being offered "bargain prices" for refuse collection services during December and January.

It'll cost them just 60 cents a month for the service during that period. After that the price is scheduled to jump to $1.10.

Secretary Fred E. Lingafelter, of the water-garbage department, reports that a total of 7,345 customers are on the city's books as of today, marking an increase of 462 over last year's total at this time.

Of that total, 6,883 have been sent bills totaling $9,228 to be paid by the Nov. 25 deadline. After that, service to delinquents will be cut off without notice. Balance of the customers made advance payments.

The 26-year-old "bargain prices" are to come to an end Feb. 1, when city council is planning to put an up-to-date collection ordinance into effect.

Price for garbage collection is scheduled to remain the same —60 cents a month—but a 50 cents a month charge is to be added for ash collection service. No charge is made for ash service now.

For the December-January period only persons who've been customers for a year or more and newcomers to Mansfield are being given ash service in addition to the garbage service at the 60 cent toll.

STAMPS IN THE NEWS

FDR Pictured On Honduras Postage Stamp

Honduras becomes the tenth foreign nation to honor the late President Roosevelt by picturing him on its postage stamps. The Central American republic has just issued an eight centavos airmail stamp showing a medallion portrait of Mr. Roosevelt beside a truncated stone column.

Two inscriptions appear on the stamp. One, beneath the stone column, translates "F. D. R.' April 12, 1945. Honduras' Homage to the Great Statesman." The other, appearing above the central design, reads "Day of Allied Victory over Japan." The stamp is one of a set of eight new airmails. The designs of the other stamps picture the Honduran coat of Spanish colonial provinces which make up Honduras.

Argentina, Greece, Haiti, Liberia and Nicaragua also have issued memorial stamps in honor of Mr. Roosevelt, Brazil, Colombia, Guatemala and Turkey pictured him on their stamps before his death.

Collectors of Roosevelt memorial issues, incidentally, may be interested to know that 10 plate varieties have been found in sheets of the Argentine stamp. Originally reported by the Journal of the Centro Filatelico de la Plata of La Plata, Argentina, the varieties were checked by the Pan American Union's Philatelic Section in Washington and found to be correct. They include incomplete letters, broken and retouched borders and joined letters. Most of them are readily visible to the unaided eye, according to the Pan American Union.

Motorists, Fined, As Galion Police Probe Mishaps

BUCYRUS—Two motorist were fined in Galion police court, and police and the sheriff's office investigated three area traffic accidents within a 24-hour period ending Friday.

Those fined were Willard E. Cunningham, Bucyrus, $10 and costs on a drunken driving charge, and Clifford Miller, Bucyrus, for "crashing" a traffic light.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Bevan, Bucyrus, were treated at City hospital for injuries received when the car in which they were riding struck the Sandusky avenue bridge. William C. Burnett, driver of the vehicle, said he was blinded by lights of an approaching car. He was not injured.

Cars operated by Ray C. White, Parkdale, Ore., and William J. Young, Richland county, were damaged when they sideswiped east of the city on Route 30-N. Neither was injured.

In another accident, autos operated by Robert Bittikofer and Mrs. Martha E. Richards, both of Bucyrus, were damaged when Mrs. Richards pulled out from the curb into the path of the car driven by Bittikofer, police said.

MOTHER FAILS TO FREE SON

An attempt to free William D. McCoy, 19-year-old inmate of the Ohio State reformatory whose consecutive sentences amount to a maximum of 85 years imprisonment, through a petition for a writ of habeas corpus had failed yesterday.

The petition for the writ, filed with the Fifth district court of appeals by Mrs. I. H. McCoy, mother of the prisoner, was refused.

The youth had pleaded guilty to three counts of sodomy and five of breaking and entering in the Knox county common pleas court in 1943. The judge of that court, Charles D. Hayden, had ordered that McCoy serve his sentences consecutively.

Mrs. McCoy's petition claimed her son was held "without legal authority" and under "two pretended commitments."

GAMMA GAMMA GAMMA CHAIRMEN DISCUSS PLANS FOR POST-THANKSGIVING DANCE

TWO highlights of the early winter season are the semi-formal dance sponsored by the four chapters of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority Nov. 30 and the benefit concert to be presented by the Treble Choir Nov. 26.

First Presbyterian Church Scene Of Roesch-Southworth Nuptials

The First Presbyterian church was the scene of the wedding Friday evening of Miss Ruth A. Roesch, daughter of Mrs. Leone Lakin, 48½ West Fourth street, and Joseph A. Roesch of Columbus, and Herbert R. Southworth. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Chase D. Southworth, 637 Bowman street.

Rev. David N. Roller performed the wedding service and music was presented by Mrs. Mabel Zehner.

Given in marriage by her father before the altar banked with baskets of gladioli, pompons and chrysanthemums, the bride wore a wedding gown made with a point d'esprit bodice with a high neckline on the sheer yoke and a full net skirt. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a heartshaped headpiece of seed pearls and crystal beads. Gardenias and white carnations formed her bouquet and she carried a linen handkerchief carried by a number of her friends in their weddings.

Attending her was Miss Mary Sedlak who was dressed in a duplicate of the bride's gown in pale blue and a band of matching ostrich plumes. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

Edward Pifer served as best man and ushers were Andrew F. Zoll and Giles E. Hamilton.

Mrs. Lakin chose a black crepe dress trimmed with sequins while the mother of the bridegroom wore a black velvet skirt and white eyelet blouse. Both wore black accessories and corsages of gardenias.

Following an informal reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents the couple left for a wedding trip to Cleveland. When they return the newlyweds will reside temporarily at 637 Bowman street.

The bride, a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, is employed at the Mansfield Brass and Aluminum corporation, and Mr. Southworth, also a graduate of Senior high school, is with the Empire Steel company.

Weddings, Engagements of Interest to Area Residents

Wed In Grand Rapids

WILLARD — Friends and relatives here have learned of the wedding on Nov. 7 in Grand Rapids, Mich., of Miss Theresa De Haan of that city to Henry E. Wiers of Celeryville. Miss De Haan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry De Haan and Mr. Wiers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wiers.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in the Seymour Christian Reformed church by Rev. R. J. Frens. Mrs. Calvin Dykstra, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor. Mrs. John Van Laar and Miss Nella Le Leeuw were bridesmaids and junior bridesmaid was Miss Margaret De Haan, also a sister of the bride. Frank Wiers, brother of the groom, served as best man, and the ushers were Steven J. Cok and Phillip Postema.

The couple will make their home in Celeryville, where the groom is associated with the Wiers Brothers concern.

Hildebrand-Tischer

SHAUCK — Miss Irene Hildebrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hildebrand of Johnsville, and Vaughn Tischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Tischer of North Woodbury, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony by Rev. David DeBoer at Mt. Gilead on Nov. 10.

Mrs. Margaret Lewis, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Lauren Tischer, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride was an employe of the Westinghouse Manufacturing company and the groom, a veteran, operates a general store.

Reveal Nevada Rites

GALION—Of interest here is the marriage of Eileen McDonald, a former well known resident of Galion, and Al Hopton of Hanford, Calif. The ceremony took place in the state of Nevada the latter part of October. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McDonald who were residents of the South State road until recently, received a message of the marriage but no details were learned.

The new Mrs. Hopton served with the WAC for three years and had the rank of second lieutenant when she was honorably discharged about a year ago. Since that time she has owned and operated the Hide Ho night club at Tulare. Her husband is a representative for milk companies in California.

STORAGE SPACE EMPHASIZED IN NEW BATHROOMS

Many New Appointments Will Also Be Available For Postwar Homes.

Of all the new appointments you will want to include in your postwar home, a large portion of them will be accessories and equipment for the bathroom, says PRACTICAL BUILDER, Chicago. You may not be able to stretch your budget to allow for everything that is available in new equipment, but a careful consideration of your family's requirements plus the knowledge of new and time-tested articles will clarify for you just what you will want in your home.

We can't emphasize too often the importance of plenty of storage space in the bathroom. A linen closet is especially essential and should be figured into your plans if at all possible. Additional storage space in the way of built-in cabinets and shelves, above the water closet, possibly alongside of the medicine cabinet and under the top surface of the dressing table, should be included. These are all necessities and should not be considered among the "luxury" additions you are going to want to install.

In most homes today, the shower is a "must," but its location will vary, according to individual pocketbooks and tastes. It can, of course, be installed above the tub or can be in a separate stall. In either case, a modern touch is to glass in the enclosure. Besides being attractive, this is a practical measure as well, since the most careful bather will sometimes splash too enthusiastically.

There are now water closets on the market that are secured to the wall rather than to the floor, which is said to make for simplified cleaning. Some models are equipped with noiseless flush valves.

An auxiliary built-in electric heater will give needed warmth on cold winter mornings. Be sure to figure on adequate bathroom ventilation, either with a ventilating fan or a fixed ventilating system that uses outside air currents to create a slight suction.

Remember to include plenty of towel racks, hand rails in the shower, an outlet at the lavatory for electric shaver, electric tooth brush, etc. If you are a sun lamp user, you will be interested in a sun lamp bulb now available at comparatively low cost which looks very much like the average light bulb and screws into a regular light socket.

Built-ins will be featured in many different ways. Plan a built-in scale, built-in shoe-shining equipment, and for those of you who take your bathroom living seriously, there will be built-in magazine racks and ash trays.

MASS PRODUCTION HOMES—One of a variety of exteriors possible with Lustron all-steel houses, now planned for production at the rate of 400 per day at Chicago-Dodge plant. It can be delivered, complete with radiant heat, refrigerator, kitchen cabinets and range, bathroom, electricity, for about $7,000.

Moth-Proofed Closets Must Be Sealed to Be Effective

By PAUL T. HAAGEN

What householder has not felt the need of more closets in her home:

There never seems to be enough closet or storage place in any house. One very desirable closet is the moth-proofed closet where winter garmets, blankets, etc, may be stored during the summer months and to this end cedar has been used for many years. A cedar moth-proofed closet, while not an obsolute guaranty against moths, is a pretty good place for the storage of garments. To build one requires certain methods to make it effective.

The moth-proofed closet may be built in the attic and must be sealed tight. It is a good idea to make the closet of a double thickness of boards with building paper between the boards to seal up the joints that will occur due to the shrinkage of the lumber.

The closet would be built of rough lumber first; then heavy building paper placed over the rough boards; then the inside of the closet sealed with cedar boards. Weather-strip the door and make the closet as tight as possible. It is essential that all cracks and joints be eliminated.

For better closets, fit up your present ones with new shelves and compartments, making the compartments to a size that will accommodate the things to be placed therein. Have a hanging rod for more efficient use.

If you have a large closet in a handy place, perhaps you might convert it into a sewing room which should have light and ventilation, shelves and hanging space.

Fixtures Should Have Shut-Offs

Every set of fixtures should have its own shut-off valves in the basement so that if it is necessary to make any repairs on any of the fixtures, water may be turned off of that group or set of fixtures only. This leaves the rest of the house with water supply.

If individual shut-off valves are not installed for each set of fixtures, the main valve cutting off the water supply for the entire house will have to be shut off when repairs are being made, which will result in inconvenience to the occupants of the house.

Use Caulking Putty To End All Drafts

Caulking putty is a satisfactory material for filling up chinks and cracks where winter drafts enter. Caulking putty will not dry nor run in hot weather.

Caulking putty may be used for setting metal or wood frames in either wood or masonry walls; setting skylights, scuttles, copings, etc.

Be sure to caulk around all water pipes, sewer pipes, and gas pipes where they pass through the walls.

DANGEROUS STAIRS

The heaviest wear on the stairway treads is usually found at the center front edge of the tread In many old homes constant wear at this point of the stair has cupped the treads so far down below the normal surface that they become a menace to safety, for the slightest slope or unevenness at this point is dangerous. Such worn treads may cause injurious falls or a broken limb. When necessary replace the worn treads with new ones or build up the worn spots and cover with a rubber nosing applied to the tread.

Experts Urge Step-Planning Of Kitchens When Building

Homemakers who are looking forward to new postwar kitchens should try step-planning tomorrow's kitchen today.

Now, when the things you'd like to have are fresh in your mind, make a list. Then, if you are planning to build a new home, decide on the amount of space you'd like for your ideal kitchen. If you are planning to revitalize the kitchen in the house you live in, you have three choices: The same space now used for the kitchen; adding additional space either by taking space from the rest of the house or building on space; using less space than at present for the kitchen . . . the extra space might be used for a downstairs lavatory, or added to some other room.

Next step is to study the space and decide where to place the three work areas. These are the receiving area (including refrigerator and storage space) which should be near the outside door; the preparation area (including the sink and cabinets); and the cooking area (including the stove and serving space). The serving space should be located near the breakfast nook or dining room.

After achieving a practical layout, discuss the piping for your kitchen with your plumbing contractor.

Planning the architectural features is the next step. This includes such things as the kind of windows, where they will be placed, where the doors will be, and what kind, where the breakfast nook will be, or the brunch bar, or dining area, what features will be built-in, whether you wish to have the sink under the window, or on an inside wall. Just how you will breakfast in your new kitchen can be the subject of some fascinating discussions.

Next step is selection of the equipment. For instance, will you have a double drainboard sink? Will you have one or two compartments or basins in the sink? Will you have an acid-resisting cast iron enameled sink? Of course you will plan to have a mixing valve faucet, and a disappearing rinsing spray hose.

There is the color and type of wall, floor, and ceiling finish to plan. Will you have washable wallpaper, tileboard, linoleum, paint, or a combination of two or more? Will you have enameled steel cabinets in white or cream color? Will you have painted or grained wood cabinets? What about the counter tops? Will they be of tile, glass, or linoleum, and what color?

Then comes the pleasant task of planning draperies, curtains, window blinds, lights, decorative plates of china, potted plants, and innumerable other smaller details that will help make your postwar kitchen the most delightful spot in your house.

GLASS BRICK

Do not hesitate to use glass blocks in your new house when you can build in the fear that it will make the rooms difficult to heat. Glass brick now on the market is hollow, the space inside being a partial vacuum It is said that a glass brick 4 inches thick gives you as much insulation as a 20 inch concrete wall. So if you wish, use glass blocks for architectural interest, soft diffused light and efficiency. You also will get insulation.

FURNACE BLOWERS NEEDED FOR HOMES

Fractional horsepower motors for furnace blowers in homes have been placed high on the priority list, C Stott Noble, National Housing agency expediter, announced yesterday in Cleveland.

Because of a critical shortage of such motors, some homes which otherwise have been completed are not habitable in cold weather, he said.

Owners, occupants or builders of such homes now may obtain the motors by use of written certification that the motors are needed to make the house habitable.

A GOOD IDEA

Does any closet in your home ever become damp, smell musty? Run the vacuum cleaner in it for 20 minutes or so every few days, note the difference.

Organized In 1868, YMCA Holds Prominent Place In Community Life

YOUNG AND OLD ENJOY SPORTS, SOCIAL ACTIVITY

Swimming, Gym Work, Even Woodworking Offered to Youngsters.

By AL PREYER

YOUTH seeking fellowship and wholesome recreation.

MEN offering professional guidance.

CLUBS offering leadership training.

ACTIVITIES to satisfy all.

Y-M-C-A. Put them all together they spell Young Men's Christian association which, since its organization in Mansfield in 1868, has stood as a center of social, recreational and character building activities for the youth of the city.

As the Y's annual membership drive got underway this week, with a goal of 400 set by Richard Tucker, chairman of the drive, some of the present members, who enjoy the many activities offered at the Y, expressed their opinions as to the value of this civic institution.

Warren Ullom, 9, of 117 Stewart avenue, a fourth grade student at Western school, said he'd been coming to the Y for three years. "I take swimming, gym, and work in the woodworking shop," Warren said. "Right now I'm making something for my baby sister to chew on. She's just teething," he explained.

"I think the Y is a great place to come to. I got most of the kids in my neighborhood to join," Warren proudly exclaimed. "All boys should be in, I think."

George Woodman, 9, of 126 Glenwood boulevard, also in the fourth grade at Western school, agreed with Warren. "I liked the trip we took to Columbus last spring holidays," young Woodman said. "I want to go again next year."

Cram Explains.

Donald Cram, Y program director, explained that the trip to Ohio's capital is a yearly feature of the Y. "We visit all the historic and scenic spots there," Cram explained. "We hope to expand our trip series to include other places of interest."

Older Boys.

A couple of the older boys, Rex Strine, 14, of 115 Hedges street, and Dick Imhoff, 16, of 586 Arlington avenue, came off the basketball floor where they'd been limbering up for a game.

Strine, who goes to Johnny Appleseed junior high, said he was a member of one of the Y's many clubs—the Emblem club. "We do lots of odd jobs around here," Rex explained. "We take over classes, paint, and do anything that we can to help out. You can get an idea of how much I like it here by the fact that during the winter I'm around about five days out of the week."

Imhoff, who goes to Mansfield Senior high school, and plays on the Y basketball team, backed up all the other fellows' statements.

"We like it here. We're here all the time we can possibly be. We like especially the Monday and Friday night recreational dances with the YWCA."

John W. Fike, YMCA physical director, and his assistants, John Watkins and Niles Ohl, described the pool and gym and the many events that take place there.

They pointed out that the Y building and its installations were built in 1897 and that the gym and pool were no longer adequate to handle the large demand made upon them.

As an example, Fike pointed to 11 organized swimming groups which use the pool weekly.

"This does not include other demands," he pointed out. "It is the same with the basketball floor."

Ralph Chapman, Y general secretary, said that the request for a new YMCA is now in the hands of the Citizens' committee. Among other things these plans call for a larger pool in which tournaments can be held and two gyms.

Cram pointed out that at present there are 60 scheduled Y programs a week.

"This does not include other event which occur spasmodically," he emphasized. "The Y is being used to full capacity but the fellowship engendered among our members always makes them say, 'the more the merrier'."

These sentiments were echoed by the boys busy in the pool and gym, or in the workshop, or just taking it easy with a brainy game of checkers.

All said, "It's a great place to go. It gives a fellow something that's fun to do and we learn what comradeship means."

YMCA staff members are Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary; Donald D. Cram, program director; John Fike, physical director; John Watkins, aquatic instructor, and Fred Frizzell, building superintendent. Board of trustees are Paul R. Tappan, Charles H. Huston, Reese Mills, A. F. Courtney and Robert R. Black.

WHYS FOR THE Y—Pictures of youth in action at the Mansfield YMCA offer evidence for the unanimous opinion of members that "it's a great place." Top, left, are Joe Augustine, Don Them, Bill Stoll, Melvin Alexander and Bob Bensinger, busy woodworkers, making things to take home. Top right, Jerry Keller trys to pass Merle Yoder, who guards him closely as Harold Leiendecker guards Jim Kibler. Bottom left, Nile Ohl, standing nearest camera, and John Watkins, instruct beginners (beginning nearest camera) Dwight Moore, Donald Rabal, Paul Dent, Tommy Eberhart, Billy Kozma, Joel Davis, John Northrop, Eddie Benning, Kenneth Keller, Richard Uhl and Carl Jordan. Bottom right, "as thousands cheer" ping pong player Alfonso Douglas battles his opponent while undisturbed in the foreground, left to right, Bob Rahall and Charles Austin engage in a battle of wits while Jim Altomonte kibitzes. USES WORKERS TOLD THEY CAN RETAIN JOBS

Employes, Now Under State Direction, to Take Civil Service Exams.

Employes of the Mansfield and Shelby Ohio State Employment Service offices, like 1,300 others all over the state, yesterday were promised a chance to keep their jobs.

The employment offices yesterday were transferred from the federal government to state supervision.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced in Cleveland that the present staff would be given provisional appointments as state employes pending setting up Civil Service examinations necessary before permanent appointments could be made.

Charles A. Jones, chief of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation into whose custody the USES passes, said the agency would continue to operate as it had under federal control since Jan. 1, 1942, for a while yet.

"Any changes in policy must come later," he said, explaining that the complicated procedure of making the transfer would prevent immediate decisions.

Policy matters expected to come up in time include a question of whether to retain the U. S. department of labor standards for job referrals, which differ in some respects from provisions of the state unemployment compensation law.

The public employment service was first organized in Ohio in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton and Youngstown in 1890. There are now 95 offices in the state.

Twice since its organization it has been under federal control. That was during World Wars I and II. It has also been shifted through the state industrial, labor and welfare departments.

Although control was shifted to the state yesterday employes will continues to be paid by the federal government until July, 1948.

TAKES RATION BOOK REQUESTS

With Mansfield's War Price and Ration board scheduled to close Dec. 12, persons seeking sugar ration books were asked yesterday to make application to the OPA office in Cleveland.

Persons eligible to make application for sugar allotments are returned veterans, couples who have a new baby, or those who want to replace lost ration books, said C. C. Beelman, ration board manager.

Beelman, who formerly supervised the applications through the local office, said that all applications must now be sent to OPA, Union Commerce building, Cleveland.

He added that plans for the disposition of the office furniture will be released the early part of the week from the central office. Beelman said that if the furniture is sold, it will be sold only to veterans.

2 PROTESTANT GROUPS UNITE

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—(AP)—The nation's 13th largest Protestant church was created Saturday as the Evangelical and United Brethren in Christ denominations united to become the Evangelical United Brethren church.

Promptly at 9 a. m. the four Evangelical bishops and five United Brethren bishops, clad in brilliant scarlet, gold and purple robes, marched to the rostrum in Christ church here and joined hands.

The senior United Brethren bishop, Dr. A. R. Clippinger of Dayton, then shook hands with Evangelical bishop John S. Stamm of Harrisburg, Pa., marking the physical union of the two churches.

Clearly and slowly Bishop Clippinger read the formal statement that united the two churches into one world-wide denomination of more than 700,000 members. The former Evangelical church had 260,000 members and the United Brethren 454,000.

Following the ceremonies, the new United church began a five-day conference to work out details of unification and to elect nine bishops.

1,986 Convicted For War Crimes

LONDON —(AP)— The United Nations war crimes commission reported last night that 1,986 war criminals were convicted and 979 of the guilty received death sentences up to Oct. 31.

In Europe 1,108 have been tried, 413 sentenced to death, 485 imprisoned and 210 acquitted. In the Far East 1,350 have been tried, 384 sentenced to death, 704 imprisoned and 262 acquitted.

COUNT SHOWS OVER 800 DEAD IN QUAKE

LIMA, Peru —(AP)— An official tabulation, still incomplete showed yesterday that 800 persons died and 500 were injured in last Sunday's earthquake on the Andes Slopes, and between 25,000 and 30,000 persons were affected.

Several army planes are dropping foodstuffs, clothing and medicine to residents of the stricken area, 30 percent of which the survey found to have been damaged. U. S. Ambassador Prentice Cooper planned to fly tomorrow for a three-day inspection of the area which is inhabited by 100,000 persons.

SLAYER SENTENCED

SPENCER, Ind. —(AP)— Joseph Luther Woolridge, 29-year-old handyman of Bloomington, Ind., pleaded guilty yesterday to the stone quarry slaying of Mrs. Phyllis Coleman, 32-year-old Bloomington hoir singer, and was sentenced by Circuit Judge Frank M. Martin to serve a life term in prison.

BOARD SET TO HIRE DIRECTOR

Mansfield's recreation board is expected to take the first steps this week toward organizing the supervised recreation program city voters approved Nov. 5 when they put their OK on a two-tenths mill tax levy.

Carl Stough, a member of the board, said yesterday the selection of a director would be one of the first moves of the board in getting the program started.

Stough said the director would be chosen on the basis of proven ability to direct recreation programs for children of all ages.

The recreation tax levy, approved by a 70 per cent favorable vote, will provide about $12,000 yearly for five years to finance the program.

Thieves Get Dose of Insect Powder

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Safecrackers who broke into a Philadelphia exterminating firm yesterday accidentally set off four DDT bombs and may have inhaled the fumes.

Police notified hospitals to be on the lookout for anyone applying for treatment who may show symptoms of DDT poisoning.

OPA FAILS TO MAKE DECISION ON RENT

WASHINGTON—(AP)—No decision has been reached yet by the OPA on the question of rent increases, an official of the agency said last night.

Others familiar with the problem however have predicted that some adjustment will be made in the near future.

The agency has promised its industry advisory committee that it would have an early decision on its request for a 15 per cent increase in rents, together with progressive decontrol of rentals.

TASK FORCE FROST OPERATES IN MUD

CAMP McCOY, Wis.—(AP)—Only winter weather was lacking as Task Force Frost, the army ground forces' experiment in cold weather operations under the command of Col. Rudolph W. Broedlow of Chippewa Falls, Wis., has begun tests of winter fighting equipment.

The opening sessions of the experiment were observed by midwest press and military representatives, as ski-mounted weapons were towed through mud instead of snow.

Rules Ohio Minors Cannot Buy Poison

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins of Ohio ruled Saturday that the sale of rat poison to minors is prohibited unless the purchaser submits a written order signed by an adult.

The opinion was requested by M. M. Ford, state board of pharmacy secretary.

Jenkins said rat poison packages must be labelled "poison," carry at least two antidotes and that sales records must be preserved for five years.

FACE SEDITION CHARGE

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa—(AP)—Eight members of the National Executive of the Communist party yesterday were remanded for trial Jan. 8 on charges of sedition. Bail was fixed at $800 each. No indication was given by the prosecutor of the basis of the charges.

U. S. Foots Bill For Job Agencies

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Approximately $8,000,000 was allocated Saturday by the labor department to the states for operation of the employment service until the end of the calendar year.

Return of the service to the states by the federal government which has operated it since January, 1942, meant that approximately 23,000 employes went off the federal payroll Friday night and start as state employes Monday morning.

Cage Interest Running High, Lure of Pasadena Gold and Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

BASKETBALL INTEREST has reached a new high in Mansfield this year with more teams than ever before set to go . . . The City "A" league has drawn a record entry of 13 teams with seven competing in the Commercial "B" loop at the "Y" . . . Add this to the usual quota of junior and senior Church teams, "kid" clubs at the "Y" and Harry Mehock's elementary school league . . .

Coach Vern Hoffman, Mansfield mentor, is continuing with the high school policy of presenting the most attractive type of schedule possible . . . The cagers will play a few of the district's top quintets as well as some of the toughest basketball schools in the state . . . The schedule is designed to give a full slate of ten home games each year . . .

A Tyger pep band (10 pieces) is been groomed to give out with "jivy" tunes at the cage festivities . . . The "hep" musicians will prepare special half-time shows and play during the game . . . Proceeds of the court clinic on Dec. 2 go to the new musical aggregation . . .

* * * * *

LURE OF GOLD has really made a mess of the 1948 Rose Bowl game situation . . . The Big Nine wants that "green-back" jaunt pretty bad and Army's Black Knights are more than anxious to make the excursion to the coast . . . The Cadets have never figured prominently in Bowl plans and the academy wants to show its great backs—Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard—to Tournament of Roses fandom.

Ohio State is the only current member of the Western Conference ever to play in Pasadena . . . The 1921 Bucks were beaten, 28-0, by California . . . Of course, the Big Nine has been a little jealous of the "shekels" pulled in by southern teams but the conference schools will split the visitor's share if they are invited.

The tangle will be unraveled or mayhap more tangled after Tuesday's meeting between Pacific Coast and Western conference representatives . . . If Army is invited, the Big. Nine will probably wear a permanent pout and not consider playing after this year.

With an eye out for dineroo the Orange Bowl yesterday suggested that it would be a good idea for the Knights to forego the Rose Bowl and invade Miami come New Year's day for a battle with unbeaten Georgia . . . Still to be heard from are the Cotton and Sugar Bowl.

CUFF STUFF: Betty Rollins, Tappan Stove No. 3, Women's Industrial league, bowled a "scratch" score of 236 last week . . . First Mansfield pin-artist to win a Reynolds pen . . . Gals must blast the maples for 232, guys 279 . . . Intu-mural boy's basketball due to start soon at Senior high . . . Defending champion Hellcats have already claimed the title . . . Dick Gross, Bob Rondy, Allen Henke and Bruno Mollica, footballers, and Johnny Bowers make up the bruising quintet . . . Games are played at 7 a. m., Tuesdays and Thursdays . . .

Loudonville's fine football club will be feted in grandiose style on Nov. 27 . . . The Loudonville booter club has cooked up quite a program with Wes Fesler, the all-time Ohio State grid great, listed as the top man in the speaking department . . . Fesler stilled a lot of loyal Buck followers when his young Pitt gridders gave Ohio State a bad time before losing, 13-0, last week . . . Ducats are available at the Ford garage in Loudonville . . .

Ohio Inter-club Yachting association has scheduled its second big regatta for June 21 and 22, 1947 at Buckeye lake . . . First regatta last summer drew 70 craft in 11 classes . . . Three members of Mohican Sailing club are officers in the association . . . W. R. Tappan is executive secretary, H. O. Dysart, trustee and Jack Gilbert, member of committee working on junior regatta.

ILLINI RALLY NETS CLINCHING 16-7 WIN

By JERRY LISKA

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(AP)—Two mud-caked "forgotten" stars, Julie Rykovich, who streaked 98 yards for one touchdown, and elusive Buddy Young who set up another on a 34-yard run, gave the Illinois a 16-7 win over Ohio State yesterday and nearly clinched the big nine title for the Illini.

With a possible Rose Bowl bid at stake the league-leading Illini proved too alert and fleet for the dogged Buckeyes before a rain-drenched Dad's Day throng of 61,519 at Memorial Stadium.

The Illini struck for all their points after Ohio State took a 7-0 lead early in the game when husky Joe Whisler smashed 17 yards to paydirt and Max Schnittker place-kicked the point.

The issue really was settled in the second period when George Spencer's kick was blocked by End Sam Zatkoff of Illinois for a safety and Illini Quarterback Perry Moss sneaked over from the four-inch line a few seconds after Young side-stepped six tacklers on a 34-yard pass gain.

Rykovich clinched things late in the third period when he intercepted Spencer's shallow pass on the Illini two and streaked 98 yards for a touchdown.

Rebserve Halfback Roger Drew place-kicked both Illini points.

Now the conference race enters its final round next Saturday with Illinois, booked against Northwestern, holding a 5-1 record, and Michigan, focing Ohio State, holding second place with four wins, a loss and a tie.

The Illini, out-stripped statistically, simply were too sharp for the Buckeyes, who led in first downs, 11 to five, and in rushing yardage, 199 to 75.

Quarterback Spencer, taking too much time to punt from his 15 early in the second period, was smothered by Zatkoff and the ball bounded back across the end zone for a safety.

A few minutes later, with the Illini on Ohio State 34, Halfback Art Duffelmeier looped a wide pass to Young, who grabbed the ball on the Buckeye 25 and waltzed down the sidelines to the four-inch line before Bob Brugge dragged him down. It was a spectacular run, reminiscent of Buddy's brilliant 1944 and 1945 form. Moss sneaked over.

The crucial third period, found the Buckeyes smashing to Illinois one-foot line only to lose the ball on downs after burly Whisler tried four times from within the five-yard stripe.

Then, after Illinois punted out and the Bucks relentlessly rolled back to the Illini four, Rykovich staged his brilliant run.

It was the first time in 12 seasons the Illini had defeated Ohio State. The Illini last triumphed in the 35-game series was in 1934 with a 24-13 decision.

Wolves Keep Title Hopes Alive, 28-6

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP) — Michigan kept alive its hope for a piece of the Big Nine football championship yesterday by handing Wisconsin a 28 to 6 lacing in which the Badgers only twice had possesion of the ball in Michigan territory.

A crowd of 64,415 fans, hiking Michigan's home attendance to 514,479 for a seven-game season, watched the Wolverines score twice in the first period on touchdown passes to End Bob Mann and finish off with two more final period scores for their top-heavy margin. It was Michigan's fourth Western conference triumph against one loss and a tie.

Wisconsin's only score came in the third period. Quarterback Jack Wink took a 33-yard pass from Halfback Lisle Blackbourne for the score.

Except for that brief interlude, Michigan was completely in control of the play all afternoon.

So clearly did the Wolverines dominate play that they reeled off 19 first downs to the Badgers eight and rolled 451 yards by land and air to Wisconsin's 146.

Gophers Upset Iowa, 16 To 6

MINNEAPOLIS — (AP) — Billy Bye, freshman left halfback, led Minnesota's revived football team to a 16 to 6 upset victory over Iowa yesterday, giving the season's largest crowd of 56,180 fans a taste of what may be in the Gophers' future.

Time after time Bye ripped off substantial gains to put the ball in scoring position and it was Bye who crossed Iowa's goal twice. Merland Kispert added the two points after touchdown. A safety in the fourth period completed the Gopher scoring.

In the third period, Lowa's passes put the ball on the Minnesota seven-yard line. Louis King and Dell Bartells worked it to the one-foot line on plunges. King then went over on a quarterback sneak.

Three Grid Teams Remain Unbeaten

LIMA - (AP)- Allen county (population about 75,000) hoasts three unbeaten and untied high school football teams this season—a record which no other Ohio county can match.

The county has nine high school teams. The three unbeaten ones are:

Lima Central, winner of 10 straight in class A competition.

Bluffton, winner of eight straight and the Western Buckeye league championship, a class A league in which Bluffton is the only class B entry.

Elida, smallest of the three, but with an unbeaten-untied record in 1945, also. Elida's nine victories this year stretched its victory string to 18 games.

Of the other six Allen county high school teams, one lost only one game and two others lost only two. The remaining three were below the .500 percentage mark.

Muskingum Wins, 16-14.

NEW CONCORD — (AP) — Muskingum college gridders edged Wittenberg 16-14 yesterday to close their season with five victories against wto defeats and a tie.

Davis, Army Slaughter Penn, 34-7

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — (AP)—Galloping Glenn Davis with his Army playmates turned in one of their more sizzling shows yesterday for the entertainment of a sell-out crowd of just under 78,000 customers and careened to a 34 to 7 victory over the ponderous Penn gridders.

They thus made it 27 straight starts without a defeat in their three-year run of wrecking collegiate football machines.

It was an Army team triumph, as the Cadets came back hot from their scoreless deadlock against Notre Dame a week ago, to push the supposed mighty Quakers all over the place. But, actually, this one was strictly a Davis show.

The California comet did practically everything as he scored two touchdowns himself, forward-passed for another and lateralled for a fourth and put on what comes close to being the top performance of a career that has been strictly star-studded all the way.

Altogether, he was in there banging away for fifty minutes and carried the ball nine times for a net gain of 59 yards, or an average of better than 6½ times a carry. This, with his passing—two completions for 76 yards—and his kicking thrown in for good measure, made it strictly Davis day in this out-sized concrete horseshoe yesterday.

And when it wasn't Davis taking the Penns apart, it was his running mate, Doc (The Monster) Blanchard belting away at the line, or Arnold Tucker, the unsung quarterback pitching passes until he injured his leg and had to be relieved. The Black Knights of the Hudson rolled over the Quaker forwards so completely and so thoroughly that one Wag remarked the Penn line reminded him of the Lincoln Highway.

Against bottom-of-the-barrel Army reserves, Penn managed a touchdown when Rodney Adams broke through to block a Cadet punt on the West Point 24. The ball rolled over the end zone and End Frank Jenkins fell on it.

By that time, the Cadets had already tallied five touchdowns, with three more Army scores called back.

Clinic Opens Schedule

TYGERS BATTLE ALUMNI FIVE IN INAUGURAL

Fourth annual Tyger basketball clinic will officially open the 1946-47 Mansfield Senior high school court season on Monday, December 3.

An exhibition by Coach Paul Horneman and his Heidelberg college cagers and a tussle between the present Mansfield cage outfit and an alumni squad will be co-features of the clinic which is being sponsored by the Tyger club.

Players and coaches from high schools in the vicinity have been invited to attend the session Horneman will discuss zone defense and fast break and methods of pentrating a zone defense.

The Tygers open their 20 game slate Friday, December 6, when Wapakoneta invades the Mansfield gym. Wapak fell before the Bengals last season, 44 to 26. Coach Vern Hoffman will split the Mansfield sophomore squad for the preliminary contest.

Fred Staub will take over the coaching reigns of the sophomore cagers next week when the football players report for court practice. Hoffman has had the remainder of the squad working out for three weeks.

The sophs will play a preliminary contest before each home game.

Mansfield, Bexley, Akron North and Toledo Libbey will compete in the giant cage carnival slated for Dec. 20 and 21 in the Tyger gym. Bexley meets North and the Tygers tangle with Libbey on the first night. Losers will play the first game and winners the second on Dec. 21.

Hoffman has four lettermen available off his 1945-46 squad which won 16 of 23 games but the club will lack height. Chuck Sisco, who understudied Jim "Stretch" Regula at center last season, measures 6 foot, one inch while Jerry Robfogel, senior forward, hits six foot.

Ollie Cline and Ralph Majors, the other lettermen, just concluded football Friday night. Both seniors, the former plays forward and the latter guard.

Among the hoopsters who participated in early workouts are: seniors, Tom Bloor and Gene Sauder, and juniors, Rodney Blahnik, Shelley Swank and Phil Pittinger. All played on the reserve squad last season. Footballers Dick Flockenzier, Nick Gagich and Bert Lindsay, also members of the reserve squad, are expected to report in the next few days.

Penn State 11 Sinks Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (AP) — The Nittany Lions of Penn State ground out a well earned 12-7 victory over Navy yesterday in a bruising football battle before a capacity crowd of 22,000 persons, including President Truman and his official party. It was the Middies' seventh consecutive defeat.

A slippery little substitute halfback, 150-pound Elwood Petchel from Easton, Pa., scored both State touchdowns in the second period as the visitors ripped the tough Middie line to shreds.

Then, as Penn State had dominated play in the first half, Navy came back to stop the Lions cold in the last two periods, scoring once and missing the potential winning touchdown midway in the fourth quarter when the State line halted a Middie drive on its own eight yard line.

Joe Bartos climaxed a 66-yard drive by plunging over center for the sole Navy score midway in the third quarter.

Heidelberg Ties Wooster, 14-14

WOOSTER, O.—(AP)—After spotting their opponents 14 points, Heidelberg's Student Princes staged touchdown marches of 76 and 70 yards yesterday to tie the underdog Wooster Scots, 14 to 14.

Following Bill Valentine's dash around end to tie up the count in the third quarter, the Student Princes kept up their power drives and twice got within the Scots' 15. Wooster rallied to avert defeat on both occasions, however.

The Scots tallied twice in the second period, Bill Shinn taking a lateral and ripping through tackle on a touchdown play that gained 43 yards and later going over from Heidelberg's eight after the Student Princes fumbled.

Valentine made Heidelberg's first touchdown on a 16-yard run in the second quarter.

Oberlin Runs Up Biggest Grid Score Since 1919.

OBERLIN—(AP)—After scoring at least twice in every period, Oberlin's Yoemen packed up their largest score since 1919 in defeating the injury-ridden Allegheny 'Gators, 62 to 0, yesterday.

After making 21 points in the opening period, Oberlin's starting eleven retired and let the remainder of the squad share in the top-heavy triumph.

Findlay Swamps Cedarville, 58-0

FINDLAY, O. — (AP) — Findlay college closed its best football season in years today with its sixth victory, a 58-0 win over Cedarville college. Findlay had lost only two games.

The victors scored as they pleased against the outclassed Cedarville team, with Louis Justice of Cleveland making three touchdowns and Louis Roeble of Cleveland two. Roeble's 63-yard run to score in the fourth was the longest of the game.

Bearcat 11 Sinks Western Reserve

CINCINNATI—(AP)—A muddy, rain-swept field didn't stop the University of Cincinnati yesterday and neither did Western Reserve as the burly Bearcats ran roughshod over the outclassed visitors from Cleveland 34-7.

The Bearcats, notching their seventh victory in nine outings, scored two touchdowns by way of passes in the opening period and then resorted to a powerful ground attack in the second half, when the going became sloppy, to count three more six-pointers.

The injury-ridden Western Reserve eleven was able to put together only one successful offensive effort. That was late in the first quarter when halfback Warren Lahr flipped a 30-yard pass from his own 35 to end Joe Sponsellar who went all the way to score.

Shelby 1947 Grid Slate Announced

SHELBY — The 1947 football schedule for Shelby high school was released yesterday by school officials. The Whippets will play nine games next fall, including seven league contests.

Coach Al Fendrick's Whippets will play New Philadelphia and Ashland outside of the circuit. There are no new teams on the schedule.

* * *

The schedule follows with the league games capitalized: Sept. 12 New Philadelphia; Sept. 20, at Willard, Sept. 26, Galion; Oct. 3, Bucyrus; Oct. 10, Ashland; Oct. 17 at Bellevue; Oct. 28, Norwalk; Oct. 31, at Upper Sandusky and Nov. 7 at Crestline.

FINAL CHAPTER SCORING GIVES IRISH 27-0 WIN

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. —(AP)— Notre Dame, which played three quarters as if it had left its heart in Yankee Stadium in that scoreless battle with Army a week ago, finally found its spark in 19-year-old Johnny Panelli yesterday and cracked out three touchdowns in the final period for a 27-0 decision over Northwestern.

Gaining their sixth triumph in a campaign for the national collegiate championship, the Irish hurled a total of 45 players against the stubborn Wildcats to wear them down for fourth-quarter scoring drives of 61, 50 and 38 yards in the sleet as a sell-out throng of 56,000 buttoned up its overcoats and roared approval.

Panelli, a 190-pound sophomore from Morristown, N. J., collaborated with Emil (Red) Sitko of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Bob Livingstone of Hammond, Ind., to provide most of the backing-up power behind Johnny Lujack's alert quarterbacking.

That combination, which helped Notre Dame roll up 27 first downs to Northwestern's four, gained 523 yards by rushing. A granite Irish line limited Northwestern's ground attack—one of the best in the Big Nine competition with an average 222 yards per game—to a mere 52 yards.

For the first time this season, however, Notre Dame, with Lujack doing most of the hurling, completed only one pass. That toss was completed behind the line of scrimmage for a loss of five yards. Northwestern connected on two aerials for a gain of 21 yards. Passing was kept to a minimum the last half after the quarterbacks assessed chances with a slick ball.

The game was only 5½ minutes old when the Irish scored their first touchdown on a 63-yard push in eight plays, featuring the line slashing of Sitko who picked up 34 and 14 yards en route.

Sitko capped it with a one foot plunge and little "No. 1" — Fred Early of Parkersburg, W. Va.,—went in to play his lone role as placekicker. The kick was good, and he hit twice later to run his record to 24 conversions in his last 28 tries.

Frank Aschenbrenner's 45 yard runback of Lujack's punt put Northwestern in a threatening position midway in the initial period, but Pat Keefe's pass was intercepted behind the goal line by Lujack to end the thrust which reached the 21

Tickets Go On Sale for VFW Fights

Reserve tickets for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Christmas Charity boxing show at the Armory, Wednesday, November 27, are now on sale, Tom Posa, jr., announced yesterday.

City News, Park Avenue News, Ritz Nite club, Saprano Cigar store, Dick Jones club, Stone's Grill and VFW post have the 840 reserve ducets.

Posa said that 600 general admission seats will be sold at the ticket office of the Armory on the night of the fights.

Paul Carbetta and Dick Alexander, Mansfield veterans of World War II will head line the first annual fistic show, Carletta meets Paul Chaney, a 124-pounder from Delaware and Alexander collides with Lefty Lou Williams, Dayton 147-pound pugster, in two eight round matches.

Joe Brown, Mansfield heavyweight completes the triple main-go when he fights Joe Ceryak, Cleveland, in another eight rounder.

Miami Drubs W. Michigan; Bishops Swamp Denison, 39-0

OXFORD, O.—(AP)—Bill Hoover, Miami University end, took individual honors on a sloppy field yesterday as the Redskins defeated Western Michigan, 20-0, before 6000 fans.

He was credited with Miami's first touchdown in the second period as he recovered a fumble by teammate Carl Elberfeld, a halfback, after he had crossed the visitor's goal line. Then, in the third period, He fell on a fumble by Western Michigan's Bob Cartwright on the Broncho's six. Mel Olix passed to Ara Parseghian for the second score.

Halfback Ray Green sprinted around end 12 yards for Miami's final marker in the fourth quarter.

Denison Smothered.

GRANVILLE, O.—(AP)—A five-touchdown second half rampage by Ohio Wesleyan's Bishops smothered the Denison university football team yesterday, 39 to 0.

The Bishops were checked even in the first period and had only a 6-0 lead at the half on a two-yard plunge by Halfback Tom Lotrecchiano.

But in the third Lotrecchiano followed up a 58-yard run by Bob Brentlinger with another score from the eight, and in five minutes Frank Jacobs galloped 53 yards off tackle for a third touchdown.

With reserves in both lineups, the victors pushed over three more touchdowns in the final period.

Dayton Flyers Win Over Ohio U., 14-7

ATHENS, O., —(AP)— With only five minutes left to play, the University of Dayton's fullback Don Pinciotti bucked through right guard for five yards and a touchdown to give his team a 14-7 victory over Ohio University in a Dad's day football game yesterday.

The flyers outplayed the losing Bobcats by a wide margin on the ground, netting 232 yards from scrimmage to 157 for Ohio. The winners completed three of six passes for 62 yards to Ohio's 58 yards on three good tosses out of 13 tries. Dayton made 17 first downs to Ohio's 13.

After a scoreless first half, the flyers sent halfback Jack Castignola around right end for 15 and a score, but Ohio U. tied it up early in the fourth on a 13-yard push by Ralph Sayre after six straight first downs had made 63 yards. Ed Sudnick kicked his 13th straight conversion.

But the flyers came right back with a 70-yard drive and Pinciotti's score.

Toledo Rockets Defeat B-W, 14-7

BEREA, O. — (AP) — A 77-yard pass play in the final 30 seconds gave Toledo university a victory over Baldwin Wallace yesterday, 14 to 7, before 4,500 spectators.

Quarterback Lee Pete heaved the aerial to substitute back Chuck Hardy, who grabbed the ball on the Yellow Jacket 40 and outran the secondary.

WHERE CAN I GO HUNTING? Many of Richland county's 7,000 returning veterans and a couple hundred high school sportsmen, who will be getting their first thrills in the fields, are confronted with the acute situation of woods to hunt in this year.

McGINTY

If you see a woods or field which you believe is well stocked with wild game, don't just park your car at the side of the road and start off through the fields. First, find out who owns the land and ask permission to hunt.

Prove to the farmer that you are a sportsman and are only interested in hunting rabbits or pheasants and that you will close gates behind you and will respect your privileges to hunt.

Don't shoot around his livestock and be careful as to not tear down any fences or deface his property. Compliment him on the farm and express your interest in farming.

Be friendly towards his wife and family, and if by yourself ask him or his sons if they wouldn't care to join you. But remember, you are his guest and don't take advantage of your host.

Above all, when leaving, whether you have had a successful day or not, thank the owner and be courteous as you might want to return.

Don't waste your shot gun shells as the sporting goods stores are almost completely sold out and haven't the slightest idea when they will get another supply in.

Many hunters have stocked up on the priceless treasure, so remember don't shoot unless you are sure you have sighted your game.

* * *

Careless people have no license to hunt even if they have bought one.

* * *

Now that the rabbit and pheasant season is in full swing, many fathers and veterans, alike are anxious to try out that foreign-made gun that their sons or they, themselves might have captured from some battle front in Germany, Manila, or one of the other famous fields of death.

There isn't any sure way of telling whether these souvenir guns are safe other than shooting them to find out, and that is a very foolish way to endanger your life or the life of some innocent youngster that might be looking on.

The advice of many experts is to hang your souvenir gun over the fireplace and leave it there.

* * *

Fisherman's Paradise at Ed Erwin's place on the Mifflin road, has yet a policy that all hunters who take to the woods in the area of Mifflin lake must sign in at Erwin's boathouse before going hunting and then again after returning. They must sign up and state how many rabbits or ducks they have bagged that day.

John Hall and John Buell have already bagged their daily limit of rabbits.

Only 48 ducks have been shot by the more than 400 bird hunters.

* * *

In Kenton, Ohio, all hotel and rooms in private homes had been reserved for many weeks before the opening of rabbit and pheasant season. Hunting prospects in that area are the best since prewar days.

All League Team To Be Picked

Mansfield Madison will be represented at a Northeastern Buckeye league dinner meeting at the Bank restaurant in Loudonville tomorrow night by Coach Jeff DeHaven, Wayne E. Miller, Madison principal, Olan LaRue, superintendent of schools and Herman Dooley, director of music.

First and second all-league teams will be announced, six players will be given honorable mention. These selections have been picked by the coaches and sports writers of the league news papers.

Dick Ernsberger, Rams leading scorer Jack Herr, leading ground gainer, Herb Eldridge, are the probable backfield selections from Madison.

Captain Jack Cleckner leads the possible line-man to receive recognition. Dan Stevens, Mike Tomaschy, Chuck Campbell, Elden Pritchard, Ed Thomas and Martin Hall are the other Rams on the forward wall.

In addition to these selections, officers will be elected for the 1947 season and a grid schedule will be drawn up.

GEORGIA BURIES AUBURN, 41 TO 0

TCU Blanks Texas By 14-0 Count

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK — (AP) — Army and Notre Dame's scoreless tie of a week ago became even more of a college football classic in retrospect yesterday as the Cadets pummeled ponderous Penn, 34-7, and Notre Dame squelched Northwestern, 27 to 0.

Just as Army and Notre Dame marched to victory, so did Georgia. Under the brilliant guidance of Charley Trippi, the Georgians probably won themselves a bowl bid with their 41 to 0 verdict over Auburn.

The Texas Longhorns, voted the nation's leading team early in the season, were blanked by Texas Christian, 14 to 0, and their great fullback, Bobby Layne, was held to 37 yards in 31 tries against the line.

The Big Six championship became a four-way knot with Oklahoma staggering Missouri, 27 to 6; Nebraska drubbing Iowa State, 33 to 0; and Kansas mastering Kansas State, 34 to 0. The Sooners, Tigers, Nebraska and Kansas all are tied for the lead with three victories and a setback each.

Texas' defeat eliminated the Longhorns from the Southwest conference title race on the same day that Arkansas clinched at least a share of the laurels by downing Southern Methodist, 13 to 0, on spectacular touchdown sallies by Clyde (Smackover) Scott and Audrey Fowler.

Rice moved into a position of being able to annex a part of the crown by whipping Texas A. M., 27 to 10.

South Carolina was rudely shoved off the Southern conference throne by Duke, 39 to 0. North Carolina, the Dukes next rival, battered a potent Wake Forest machine, 26 to 14, primarily on the efforts of Charlie Justice.

Tennessee stepped outside the Southeast conference to batter Boston College, 33 to 13, in an intersectional fray. The Eagles collected all their 13 points before the Vols found the goal line. Hurlin' Harry Gilmer pitched Alabama to a 12 to 7 victory over stubborn Vanderbilt, and Georgia Tech found Tulane only a minor puzzle, 35 to 7.

Kentucky and Mississippi State duplicated Tennessee's non-conference activities, the Wildcats mastering West Virginia, 13 to 0, and the Mississippi State eleven, playing Northwest Louisiana on the date previously held for Nevada, triumphed, 27 to 0.

In the east Colgate's gridders smashed Syracuse, 25 to 7, a day after their veteran coach, Andy Kerr, announced that he would retire this year. It was the Red Raiders' first major win of the season.

Yale became the favorite for the Big Three title by spilling Princeton, 30 to 2, and Williams finished an undefeated season by downing Amherst, 21 to 13, in a game that decided the Little Three race. Rutgers won from Lehigh, 55 to 6, for the Middle Three title.

UCLA got in shape for next week's crucial Pacific Coast conference battle with Southern California by downing Montana, 61 to 7. The Trojans were idle today. Stanford edged Washington State, 27 to 26, and Oregon State romped over California, 28 to 7. Washington trimmed Oregon, 16 to 0.

CLAIM CITY CHAMPIONSHIP—Newman's grade school touch football team has claimed the city championship following victories over West Fifth, 6 to 0, and Carpenter, 6 to 0. West Fifth and Newman tied for first in the northern division under the point system. Front row, left to right, Gary Sholaya, Lamasle McMillan, Donald Reardon, Eugene McElvain, Raymond Kvochick, Hugh Steele and Theodore Grace. Second row, left to right, Fred Conrad, Tommy Washington, Paul Jaymes and Larry Lodge. Third row, left to right, are substitutes Nathan Brooks, Eugene Brandon and Gerald Conrad with Miss Frances Wolfe, team coach for the past six years. Her teams have won four city titles.

Mary Kathryn Rust, program chairman, announced the schedule for meeting at the regular Girls' Leaders club session this week. Guest speaker will enlarge on leadership—in the classroom, in student organizations, in the community, in athletics and spiritually.

Miss Marjorie Boals, physical education teacher and club adviser, explained technicalities of volleyball refereeing. Jesse Beer, school guidance director, talked on qualities one should have to be a good leader. The qualities were goal, more knowledge than those following you, skill and character, and above all, when it is necessary, be a good follower.

Norma Blackstone presided over the meeting.

Oberlin Harriers Take Title.

OBERLIN—(AP)—With five men in the first eight finishers, Oberlin's harriers won the Ohio conference cross country run today with 27 points. Case was second with 40 and Baldwin-Wallace third with 77.

George Davis of Mohawk, Syracuse's new varsity quarterback, was a third-stringer until he started the Temple game.

Sailing Club Gives Awards

Mohican Sailing club plays host to 14 inland yachting organizations throughout Ohio at the annual trophy dinner and dance at the Sons of Herman hall, Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

Trophys will be awarded to the winners in each of the classes of racing boats represented at the Mifflin lake club. More than 150 members and their wives are expected at the dinner and an elaborate program has been planned.

The Sailing season opens on Memorial Day and closes on the last Sunday of September. Races are held every Sunday afternoon.

Records had to be rechecked before Glenn Macy was announced the 1946 champion in the Y Flyer class. Macy edged out Harold Dysart by a fraction of a percentage point.

Egon Loeckel took the Super-Sunray class title away from Commodore August Grotegut by winning the final races in September.

In the Inter-lake class Walter Wixon won the crown with Charles Shutt second. Bud Macy won the Pram class with Mariam Gilber the runner-up.

The club is looking forward to a bigger racing season in 1947 with a fleet of Lightnings and Comets added to the organization's racing group.

Johnny Mandarino, Syracuse's hard-working fullback, is tough on the equipment manager. He has ruined a jersey in every game.

Albion Nips Ashland; Otterbein Romps, 53-0

ALBION, Mich. —(AP)— Albion College scored a touchdown in the first period and a safety in the next quarter to beat Ashland, Ohio, College yesterday 8-7.

Ben Fles took a 17-yard pass from Bob Mohr and ran 40 yards for the first Albion score, then Leo Strang of Ashland was caught behind his goal for the home team's safety. Ashland drove 65 yards in the third period, with Strang going over from the six.

A fourth-quarter Ashland threat was halted when Albion took the ball on downs four inches from its goal line.

Albion	6	2	0	0	—8
Ashland	0	0	7	0	—7

Albion scoring: touchdown, Fles; safety, strang (tackled by Hull). Ashland scoring: touchdown, Strang. Point after touchdown, Joseps (placement).

Otterbein Swamps.

WESTERVILLE, O. —(AP)— Otterbein College's Cardinals ended their season yesterday by shellacking Kenyon 53-0 for their seventh victory against one defeat —an opening game loss to West Virginia 13-7.

Paul Davis, Cardinal left halfback, sliced off tackle for 30 yards and the first touchdown soon after the opening kick-off. Seven plays later he took a four-yard pass on the Kenyon 26 and then went through Kenyon's left side for another tally.

Otterbein led 21-0 at the end of the first period, and third-stringers added another touchdown in the second quarter.

With the starting line-up back in after the half, Otterbein chalked up three more touchdowns.

Kenyon never advanced the ball beyond midfield.

Mount Union Wins.

ALLIANCE, O. —(AP)— Mount Union's Vince Marotean defeated Ohio Northern 26 to 2 yesterday, though it took him until the second quarter to warm up.

The Polar Bears gained their points on a safety in the first period as the result of a blocked pass.

Marotea opened the Mount Union scoring early in the second period, going around left end for 40 yards, and added another touchdown five minutes later from 19 yards out. He went inside tackle for 66 yards and around end for 35 yards for another pair of tallies in the third period.

Indians Begin Cage Workouts

MT. GILEAD—The Mt. Gilead Indians will begin basketball practice Tuesday night after a week's layoff following the end of the football season.

Coach Robert Blose has two lettermen back from the 1945-46 squad which finished last in the Mid-State league race. They are Dick Campbell and Junior Dix. All five starters on last year's team graduated last spring.

Prospects however are not too discouraging as Coach Blose will have Pete Campbell, letterman at Edison last year, and members of the district champion freshman team out for the squad. Richard King will coach the Jayvees this year and D. B. Noble will coach the freshman team.

* * *

The schedule follows: December 3, Fredericktown; December 6, Edison; December 14, Richwood*; December 17 at Galion; December 20, at Marysville*; January 3, at Chesterville; January 4 at Sunbury*; January 7, Crestline; January 10, at Marion St. Mary; January 14, Cardington; January 18, Iberia; January 21, Johnsville; January 24 at Richwood*; January 31, Marysville*; February 4, at Edison; February 1 at Cardington; February 8, at Claridon; February 11 at Sunbury*; February 14, Marion St. Mary*; February 18 at Crestline; and February 21, Mansfield Madison. (*indicates Mid-State league contests).
